A Circus Of Excitement

When Charles Van Doren hit the sawdust trail of repentance and confessed at the altar of a congressional committee of enquiry to knowingly and willingly participating in major television quiz frauds, he spoke of himself as a symbol.

This is an accurate summation. He was the unstable intellectual, not yet possessed of intellect, who fittingly enough was seduced in the apartment bedroom of a TV producer into accepting agreed-upon sums for prostituting his intelligence.

He was even more a symbol of our national attitude. It was an almost cruel commentary on us as a people that his confession coincided with the announcement by the President of the December date of the Big Four meeting in Paris. It will be a prelude to the summit meeting in which the U.S.S.R. will participate. This latter assembly of the powers will be a conference which, without fail, will have great impact on the future of the republic, determing perhaps in a major degree its chances for war or peace, survival or disaster. There was meager discussion of it, and less interest in it.

Washington and the nation were pleased to be otherwise engaged. They did not have to deal with big, complex problems. They had what they like most—a circus of excitement with clowns, some tragic and sad as the face of Emmett Kelly, and others of slapstick laughter.

National Values

But Van Doren was a symbol of something else. There has been for sometime an admission that we have not done too well in establisbing a set of national values. Our manners and disciplines are second rate. Our undisciplined juveniles, a crop larger than that of any other country on earth, testify eloquently to our failure. We deplore the godlessness of Russia and the regimentation of her peoples. Yet, we wince in the knowledge that in Russia women may walk alone at night in cities and parks and not be afraid of attack or robbery.

We are shamed by the fact that our educational system does not so well serve our objectives of freedom and the place of the individual in a free society, as the Soviet system serves the Marxist objectives of communism.

As a nation, we are suffering from generations of second-rate education. We have come to accept the lowest common denominator as the norm of our lives in teaching, learning and experience. Van Doren lamented the fact that by faking knowledge of history and literature he overnight became a national hero.

Right to Think

This simply could not have happened without years of national preparation. There may be a flaw in the argument, but it seems sound to say that on the average we have abdicated the right to think, know and participate.

What do we think?

Why, the polls answer for us. We sometimes laugh at what they tell us we think. But we rarely protest. It did not even disturb us when, during the second great war, it was learned by the poll method that a popular picture weekly was regarded by a huge majority of our armed forces as "highbrow" reading while comic books were the sole reading matter of an equally large number.

The members of the congressional committee, sitting like gods atop cloudy Olympus, might well have lined themselves up beside young Van Doren and made honest confessions. The nation's educational problem has been for years in a period of worsening crisis. The congressmen hearing the TV fraud have participated in evading this issue until education in many states is starved and replete with frauds on the children.

It is ironic, too, to see a great many editorials of condemnation of Van Doren's fraud from typewriters which consistently have eagerly urged defiance of processes of law and fraudulently deceived readers by telling them the Supreme Court school orders do not become law.

All these things reflect an abandonment of principle — a preference for the lowest common denominator. The field was ripe for the Van Doren harvest.

Grand Jury Led By Probe Figure Subpoenas Webb

Foreman Rollins Faces Trial Here in State Case

A Decatur County grand jury headed by a state official indicted in the recent Fulton County probe of state government has subpoenaed Fulton Sol. Gen. Paul Webb and others who headed the probe here.

Webb Tuesday was served by a deputy sheriff with a subpoena ordering him to appear before the grand jury at 9 a.m. Thursday with a number of documents for use in "a certain case pending before the grand jury."

The subpoena listed the case as "The State versus J. W. Brinson Jr."

FACES TRIAL HERE

Asked if he would respond to the subpoena, Webb said, "If I've got the documents, I'll either send them or take them to them (the grand jurors). I haven't had time to check and see what documents they want to get."

Foreman of the Decatur County jury is Raleigh W. Rollins, who was jointly indicted by the Fulton Grand Jury on a charge that he conspired with Brinson, who was then state parks director, to cheat the state of about $4,000 on purchases.

Rollins is scheduled to go on trial on Nov. 19 in Fulton Superior Court on a charge of conspiring to defraud the state.

PROBER CALLED, TOO

Attorney Frank B. Hester, who served as an investigator for the probe team headed by Special Prosecutor A. Paul Cadenhead, said he also had been served with a subpoena.

Hester's subpoena, signed by Decatur Sol. Gen. Matson O'Neal and Judge Carl E. Crow, commanded him to appear before the grand jury Thursday "to be sworn as a witness for the state."

Hester said his subpoena did not identify the case in which he is to be used as a witness.

Sol. O'Neal said subpoenas also have been issued for Cadenhead, Brinson and Mrs. Marjorie Murphey, former secretary-treasurer of the Parks department, who was indicted on several charges by the Fulton jury during the probe.

Cadenhead was out of town engaged in the trial of a case in Jackson and could not be contacted to determine if he had received a subpoena.

Rollins, the jury foreman, is still a member of the State Board of Corrections, a post he refused to quit even though under indictment, after Gov. Vandiver requested him to do so.

Rollins only recently contested the validity of the conspiracy law under which he was indicted. His attorneys contended there is no such thing as a conspiracy law in Georgia. The Georgia Supreme Court, however, upheld the law.

Experts Fear Trend To Case-Snatching

By GENE BRITTON

Some state officials and legal experts Tuesday indicated concern over what they said may be a trend toward case-snatching practices in some Georgia courts.

The expressions of alarm came after it was reported that Fulton Solicitor Gen. Paul Webb, former special prosecutor Paul Cadenhead and other major figures in the Fulton County probe of irregularities during the Griffin administration are being subpoenaed to testify before the Decatur County grand jury.

Decatur, with Bainbridge as the county seat, is the home county to former Gov. Marvin Griffin.

Some observers saw the subpoenas as an indication that the Decatur grand jury may be planning to indict some of the "home folks" and arrange a quick trial in order to beat Fulton County to the draw.

Raleigh Rollins, former supporter of Marvin Griffin who is himself under indictment by the Fulton jury, is foreman of the Decatur jury.

He is scheduled to go on trial here Nov. 19 on charges of conspiring with former Parks Di- in the election for county commis-

School Board Drafts Plan for Placement

The Atlanta Board of Education—evidently with little hope of getting a stay of the Federal Court's order to submit a desegregation plan by Dec. 1—has drafted a proposal to meet the December deadline.

The plan follows closely the Alabama pupil placement law and contains 18 points to regulate any transfer of students among the 143 city schools or the entry of any new student.

The points cover such diversities as availability of transportation, suitability of the established curriculum for the particular applicant, available room and teaching capacity, scholastic aptitude, relative intelligence or ability of the pupil, economic retaliation in the community, and possible friction or disorder among pupils or others. It makes no mention of race.

The board has not formally approved the plan—which was to be kept secret but was leaked by United Press International. The proposal has been circulated to board members and officials.

Board Chairman A. C. (Pete) Latimer announced Saturday that the board would ask for a stay of U.S. District Judge Frank A.

5 Bridges Going Up at Interchange

Five of the 14 bridges that will make up the Capitol Avenue interchange, the crossing point of Interstate Highway Routes 20 and 25, are now under construction.

Typical of the interchange bridges is the one south of the state Capitol near Memorial drive and Washington street. It is 428 feet long, built on a curve, and will be flanked on each side by eight-feet-wide sidewalks.

Girders of the bridges were pointed an orange color by the steel manufacturers as a primer coat to protect them from the weather.

According to a State Highway Department engineer, the bright color was chosen as a safety measure when the girders are transported by truck to construction sites. He said the rich tint made them more visible on highways.

Some of the girders have been given their second coat of paint, a soft and mellow green protective covering.

Stassen Defeated in Landslide

By the Associated Press

Democrats overwhelmed their Republican opponents and retained the Kentucky governorship and Philadelphia mayoralty in the main contests in Tuesday's off-year elections.

Democrat Bert T. Combs won easily over Republican John M. Robinson in the Kentucky governorship race, despite strong campaign attacks from Democratic Gov. A. B. Chandler, ineligible to succeed himself.

In Philadelphia, Democratic Mayor Richardson Dilworth won a second term by swamping Republican Harold E. Stassen, trying for a comeback, by around 200,000 votes. Stassen said he will continue in politics but he didn't say how. He hopes to go to the GOP National Convention next year as a delegate.

The Democrats also scored heavily in municipal elections in Indiana and Connecticut. Republicans made their best showing in upstate New York where they ousted nine Democrats from City Halls while being ousted from four by the Democrats.

In Indiana, Democrats retained every major city, including Indianapolis, Gary, South Bend, Evansville, Terre Haute and Hammond, and ousted Republican regimes in Fort Wayne and Lafayette.

In New York, Republicans took over the city halls from Democrats in Utica, Amsterdam, Canadaigua, Auburn, Ithaca, Rome, Mount Vernon, Troy and Corning.

Fulton Asks Custody of Joe Ray

Fulton County has moved to retain protective custody of former sales tax director Joe W. Ray during the Cordell-Green sales tax trial in Dublin, The Constitution learned late Tuesday.

The maneuver came on the heels of reports that Laurens County would attempt to take custody of Ray, who pleaded guilty to embezzlement charges in Fulton County Monday and was scheduled to be turned over to the Board of Corrections.

Ray's plea headed off efforts of Laurens to try his case. The Laurens grand jury had indicted him on a similar charge.

Ordinarily, a prisoner is turned over to the Board of Corrections as soon as the board receives a copy of his sentence, as it has in this case.

If any court wants a prisoner as a witness in a pending case, however, it may request the Board of Corrections to transfer custody.

There were reports Tuesday that Laurens Superior Court was ready to make such a motion.

$64,000 Sponsor Knew Quiz Was Fixed, Probe Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—The man who screened contestants testified Tuesday the original big money quiz show on TV, the "$64,000 Question," was rigged and that the sponsoring Revlon Co. knew it was.

The "$64,000 Question," the "$64,000 Challenge," both on CBS, and "The Big Surprise" on NBC, all were described by associate producer Mert Koplin of New York as controlled quiz shows.

He said he screened contestants or gave answers to them in advance. Koplin had been named by rumba king Xavier Cugat as havnings on the "Challenge" last yaer.

Both appeared before a House Commerce subcommittee which is digging into the fixing scandal that exploded around TV quiz shows and blew many of them out of existence.

The executive producer of the two $64,000 shows, Steven R. Carlin of New York, supported Koplin's testimony. He testified that he agreed with what Koplin said about the techniques and degree of control over quiz shows.

Earlier Tuesday, it was announced in New York that NBC had terminated its contract with Charles Van Doren, $129,000 winner of the Twenty-One show who confessed Monday to participating in rigging.

NBC said: "Mr. Van Doren's admissions in his testimony are completely at variance with his repeated denials of complicity. . . . Those who have knowingly engaged in the fraud of quiz show rigging must be removed from the broadcasting scene. . . ."

Cugat was the big name Tuesday. He said he didn't give all the facts about his appearance on the program to the New York district attorney's office. But he said he did tell the truth about it later to a grand jury.

Fund Drive Feared Headed for Failure

With only eight days left and more than a million dollars to go, Atlanta's first United Appeal drive appears headed for failure, the campaign's general chairmen warned Tuesday.

Deadline for raising the campaign goal of $3,327,314 is Nov. 12, and campaign officials said they are determined not to extend the drive beyond that date.

The first combined Red Cross-Community Chest campaign is $1,199,482 short of the goal, said General Chairmen Lou Oliver, Hughes Spalding Jr. and Pollard Turman in a joint statement.

"Some volunteers who have promised to work on the United Appeal have not yet seen the people or firms assigned to them," they said. "But if the United Appeal concept is to accomplish its purpose, we must overcome these obstacles and end the campaign on time."

United Appeal leaders hope that 90 per cent of the goal will have been attained by noon Thursday when the third report meeting is held at the Progressive Club.

Only 64 per cent of the goal ($2,127,832) for Fulton, DeKalb and Cobb counties has been reached thus far. Cobb County is

Teamsters Fighting Labor Bill Backers

Hoffa Orders War Chest To Defeat Foes in Congress

DETROIT (UPI)—James R. Hoffa said Tuesday his giant Teamsters union would make an organized effort to defeat every member of Congress who voted for the Landrum-Griffin labor bill.

Hoffa picked out two senators in particular, Democratic presidential hopeful John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Patrick V. McNamara, a Michigan Democrat who had Teamster support in winning his first term six years ago.

Of Kennedy, he said, "I won't support any spoiled millionaires."

Of McNamara, a one-time union plumber, Hoffa said, "He can't escape the fact that he voted for a bill which he himself called a bad bill for labor unions."

"We don't intend to support anyone who voted for the (Landrum-Griffin) bill," Hoffa told a news conference as he opened the annual meeting of the Central Conference of Teamsters.

"In some cases we may not support either candidate," he said, "we will definitely not be a one-party group."

Hoffa said a Teamsters political action group would be formed under the leadership of his top lieutenant, Bert Brennan, and that it would "reach all the way down to the grass roots level."

He said funds for the group would come from two sources: funds of the international union will be used for "political education," and individual members will be asked to contribute voluntarily to the campaigns of candidates favored by the teamsters.

"We are not suggesting any specific amount any member should contribute," Hoffa said.

U.S. Flag, Guards Attacked in Panama

BALBOA, Canal Zone (UPI)—Rioting nationalists tore down the U.S. embassy flag Tuesday and stoned U.S. Canal Zone guards.

Rioters surged through the streets in a massive Independence Day protest against U.S. control of the Panama Canal zone.

Clashes occurred at both ends of the 50-mile-wide isthmus.

U.S. infantrymen with unsheathed bayonets on their rifles lined up on the main road separating the Canal Zone from Panamanian territory at this Pacific port. Reinforcements were deployed behind them and a helicoptor circled overhead to report the movements of a crowd which gathered on the Panamanian side of the road. Panamanian national guardsmen were rushed to the U.S. Embassy as guards.

WINDOWS SMASHED

Windows in the U.S. Information Service building and in the U.S. chancellory were smashed. The information service had been featuring a window display on Panama's independence.

U.S. Ambassador Julian F. Harrington formally protested against the desecration of the American flag by a mob of 150 Panamanians outside the embassy. He said the attack "seriously endangered" U.S.-Panamanian relations.

A mob marched on the embassy and tore down and desecrated the U.S. flag. Bits of the flag were flaunted in the faces of the Americans lined up at the entrance to the zone held under treaty with the Panamanian government.

An automobile was burned on the tracks of the Panama City railroad station which is part of the Panama Canal enterprises.

National guardsmen prevented the mob from looting the station.

GUARD CAPTAIN PLEADS

A Panamanian national guard captain pleaded with the crowd at the border to disperse.

On the Atlantic side of the zone, police repelled a move with tear gas and high-pressure hoses.

Three Canal Zone guards were injured by flying stones and two student demonstrators were arrested in a skirmish at the border which spread like fever into full-scale rioting against American possession of the canal area.

Fire trucks with hoses connected stood ready to open up if the crowds tried to surge into the zone.

High Court Pondering Steel Writ

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court listened Tuesday as government and steel union lawyers debated the legality of a back-to-work order. Then it began pondering a decision that will influence the course of the historic steel strike and the future of the Taft-Hartley law.

There was no indication when the high court may hand down its decision, but it was not expected to delay long with the steel mill shutdown 112 days old.

Fighting the back-to-work order issued by a lower court, union counsel Arthur J. Goldberg said that in enacting the Taft-Hartley law Congress "passed the buck to the Supreme Court to break strikes."

Replying for the government, Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin said that in passing the law, with its strike-ending emergency machinery, Congress sought to protect the interest of all the nation rather than either labor or management.

Rankin disputed him on every point, and the justices peppered both lawyers with questions.

Berlin Ultimatum On Flag Reported

BERLIN (UPI)—The U.S. Berlin commandant was reported Tuesday to have warned the Soviets that Western Allied troops here were prepared to intervene this weekend if East German Communists caused disturbances by flying their new flags in West Berlin.

An Allied spokesman said that Maj. Gen. Barksdale Hamlett had visited Soviet headquarters in East Berlin Monday and discussed the flag issue with Maj. Gen. N.F. Zaharov, the city's Soviet commandant

LAW AND ORDER

The spokesman said only that Hamlett visited Zaharov "to discuss matters of mutual interest and responsibility in the maintenance of law and order in Berlin"

Informed Allied sources, however, said that Hamlett specifically warned the Soviets against allowing the Communists to fly the East German flag over West Berlin railway stations this weekend on the anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

Hamlett, the sources said, warned the Soviet commandant that the Western Allies were determined to use their 11,000 troops in West Berlin to preserve law and order.

16,000 POLICE

He told the Soviets that the U.S., British and French troops would go into action if necessary to back up the 16,000 West Berlin police in putting down any flag disturbances.

The American commandant issued his warning in his capacity as this month's chairman of Allied supreme council here.

Hamlett denied the Communist claim to sovereignty over elevated railway installations in West Berlin. He said the Communists only had operational control over the railway and had no extra-territorial rights in West Berlin.

TO MARK ANNIVERSARY

The Communists are expected to try to fly their new flag over the elevated stations to mark the week - end anniversary celebration of Russia's Bolshevik revolution beginning this Friday. The actual anniversary falls on Saturday.

Clashes broke out between West Berlin police and Communist railway workers last month when the Communists flew the flag for the first time on the Oct. 7 anniversary of the formation of the East German regime.

Reds Yield, Accept Key Atom Study

GENEVA (UPI) — Russia reversed its position Tuesday and reluctantly agreed to hold scientific studies with the United States and Britain on hard-to-detect underground atomic explosions, a major stumbling block to any East-West nuclear weapons test ban.

Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin said Russia agreed to the study which it previously held to be a waste of time only because he wanted to save the year-old Geneva conference "from a U.S. threat of collapse." Nevertheless, U.S. delegate James J. Wadsworth and British delegate Sir Michael Wright welcomed the move as a "step forward" in the deadlocked conference.

The scientific conference will be held in mid-November. But Tsarapkin said Russia would not be bound to accept from it a formula for inspection and control of underground "bootleg" blasts in violation of any treaty which may be signed.

This is the key to the whole issue. The United States and Britain are agreed with Russia that detection of above ground and under water blasts is a relatively simple affair. But the question of underground blasts, hard to differentiate from earthquakes, would require actual physical inspection of another nation's territory.

Blast Rocks Rocket Plant Kills Worker

HERRIN, Ill. (AP)—An explosion pulverized a small, isolated building in an explosives plant Tuesday, killing the only person inside.

The explosion, followed by a plume of black smoke, occurred in an experimental section of the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., in nearby Ordill.

A coroner, the only person admitted inside the fenced-in base, said workmen told him a small quantity of rocket fuel blew up.

Normally 10 men work in the building, one of 60 scattered around the installation.

Second-to-None Mental Care Urged By Dr. MacKinnon

By JACK NELSON
Constitution Staff Writer

MILLEDGEVILLE—Dr. Irville H. MacKinnon, superintendent of Milledgeville State Hospital, and legislative leaders Tuesday called on the 1960 General Assembly to back Gov. Vandiver's program to make Georgia's mental health program "second to none in the nation."

Speaking to 42 legislators from the First and Eighth Congressional districts, Dr. MacKinnon said: "I can see nothing but success for this program if we all work together."

The legislators, 16 of them accompanied by their wives, completed a two-day tour of the huge mental institution Tuesday. It was the first visit for the majority of them.

During Tuesday's tour, Rep. George Smith II of Emanuel, House speaker, told his colleagues:

"We will derive more benefit from this inspection than from any we have ever made." He said past legislative inspections of the hospital have been limited to hurried tours through parts of the institution by committees.

This was the beginning of the first tour ever taken of the hospital by the General Assembly's full membership. During the next three weeks, Monday - Tuesday tours will be taken by legislators from the other eight Congressional districts.

Rep. Culver Kidd of Baldwin, chairman of the Senate-House Mental Health Study Committee, his committee's recommendations urged that the legislators support for a minimum financing program in mental health.

Kidd said the committee's proposal that the mental health budget be increased by "at least a million dollars" during each of the next five years is "actually inadequate." But he said mental health leaders could better formulate long-range plans if they had some minimum financing assured.

Rep. Philip Chandler of Baldwin, vice-chairman of the House Mental Health Study Committee, said he was confident that the interest shown by legislators during the tour would result in unanimous support for the governor's "second-to-none-in-the-nation program."

Fire Safety Commissioner Zack Cravey told the group that $70,000 has been provided to correct fire hazards at the hospital pinpointed by his inspectors.

Pye Warns Atlanta Must Fight 'Jungle'

Judge Durwood T. Pye declared Tuesday that if Atlantans adopted attitudes like those of New York officials about crime, Atlanta's streets would, like those of New York, "be turned into a jungle where it is unsafe to go."

The Fulton Superior Court jurist made the statement in a charge to the November-December term grand jury in which he warned against the idea that Atlanta is immune to the type of teen-age violence now found in New York.

REPEATS URGINGS

Judge Pye also renewed urgings he made to previous grand juries on the enforcement of the state's vagrancy and barratry laws. He said vagrancy laws should be used to clear criminals from Atlanta's streets and that barratry laws could be used against "third persons unlawfully exciting and fomenting" school integration lawsuits.

In a two-hour charge in which he quoted from lengthy magazine articles on conditions in New York, Judge Pye said Atlanta thus far has escaped the conditions prevalent in New York City due to the superior quality of its peoples and its morals.

Another important factor, he said, is the fact that Atlanta is located in what is often sneeringly called the "segregated Bible belt."

Giving his personal observations on the attitudes on crime which he condemned, Judge Pye observed:

1. Welfare provisions do not prevent crime nor materially lessen its increase.

2. Attitudes that "the government will take care of me" foster unlawfulness.

3. Integration fertilizes crime.

4. When proper morals and attitudes break down, government tends to break down generally.

NOTION OF EQUALITY

5. The notion of equality tends to help no one and tends to retard some persons.

6. The idea that an individual is not responsible for his acts personally, but that society is, is dangerous to the good order and peace of the state.

7. Crime cannot be prevented by sentimentality.

8. Crime must be punished by proper severity.

9. Criminals should be punished as a matter of justice to society.

JUDGE CONCLUDES LIST

Concluding the list, Judge Pye said that if people in this county were to "adopt the same ideals" of those who "rule the government of New York City, the people and the streets of Atlanta likewise would be turned into a jungle where it is unsafe to go."

Regarding vagrancy laws, Judge Pye said they provide a means whereby "the streets and public places of our county can be cleared of criminals who ply their criminality day in and day out by preying upon those who come in anywhere within their reach."

The judge also declared there is "no reason on earth why a man or woman known to be a criminal should be allowed to walk the streets" when they are known to have no gainful employment. They are a "menace to society" and "should be got rid of," the judge added.

Judge Pye said the vagrancy laws not only can apply to loafers, but also to professional gamblers who depend on cards, dice or lottery for a living. They should be dealt with as a vagrant under the law, he added.

Work of police in this area in the past has been good, he said, but more use of the law is needed. Every weapon in the arsenal of the law should be used to halt crime, he commented.

Turning to the barratry laws, Judge Pye declared they "do extend to third persons who unlawfully are engaged in exciting and fomenting" integration suits in federal courts to destroy the state's segregated public schools.

These laws prevent no aggrieved party or their attorneys from going directly into court, he emphasized, but apply to outside parties engaged in the "excitation and fomentation of such litigation."

The new grand jury elected George B. Leonard, 185 Bolling Rd., NE, as foreman; George L. Kinsman, 3223 Peachtree Rd., NE, assistant foreman; Earl D. Burgess Jr., 673 E. Paces Ferry Rd., NE, secretary, and Miss Edna Moon, 460 Lynnhaven Dr., SW, assistant secretary.

Ort Jenkins Heads Fulton Cancer Unit

G. Ort Jenkins was named president of the American Cancer Society's Fulton County unit by the board of directors at a meeting in the Capital City Club Tuesday.

Jenkins, who is general manager of the Atlanta Control Store of Sears, Roebuck & Co., replaced Henry Maddox, who became chairman of the board. Other new officers are:

J. Marshall Weaver, vice president, regional manager of the Lanier Co.; Dr. John P. Wilson, vice chairman of the board, and Pope McIntire, Atlanta attorney, secretary-treasurer.

John H. Stembler, president of Georgia Theater Co., who was chairman of the board, became chairman of the executive committee.

Henry Maddox presented awards for "outstanding work" in the public education field to Richard H. Rich, Charles K. Cross, Lewis L. Kennedy, Dr. Douglas G. MacRae, Dr. R. W. Stephens, Frank Gaither and Dr. John P. Wilson.

"Outstanding service awards" went to J. Marshall Weaver, Jenkins, Howard Ector, H. W. Tofflemire, and Mrs. Clayton E. Rich.

2 Steel Plants Run Full Blast Despite Strike

Two Atlanta area structural steel fabricating plants have been running full blast despite the strike.

The plants are Steel, Inc., at Scottdale, and Golian Steel and Iron Co., East Point. The plants have never closed since the union workers went on strike July 15, said steel president Carl Kranig and Golian president Felix Golian Jr. The presidents said they hired non-union labor to replace the striking union workers.

The State Labor department erroneously reported in a news story publised in The Atlanta Journal-Constitution that the strike shutdown the Steel and Golian plants.

Shall We Rebuild? Answer Is 'Yes!'

The long-range plan for a 20-year urban renewal program which would cost an estimated $135,651,500 to be financed by the city and federal governments is not idle dreaming by a group of impractical men.

On the contrary, it is a highly practical, well-thought-out plan on which the future of the city and its surrounding metropolitan area largely will rest. While the problems to be overcome appear enormous—and are—now is the time for the community to make the decision not to permit progressive deterioration to checkmate progress in all fields.

As the report prepared by the joint Atlanta-Fulton County Planning Board points out, this deterioration already has progressed to a far greater extent than we can afford. Determined efforts to rebuild, to clear out the blighted areas and to eliminate the costly indulgence of slums make good sense in any category of comparison.

Those who have hoped the problem would just go away have been disappointed. There are no indications the postwar explosion of population and growth will cease. There is every indication they will continue. Unless the central area is preserved and strengthened, it will decay to a point that efficient government will be impossible.

It is anticipated that help from the federal government will take care of two-thirds of the cost of clearing slum areas. How the city will be able to raise its one-third is the big problem, its solution depending upon the will of the people themselves. In considering it, as the report says, we should keep in mind the cost of leaving the slums where they are and of allowing them to multiply.

The complexity of Atlanta's urban problem is such that cooperation from Fulton County, the state and local government units in the area should be routine. Only through such cooperation and joint planning can the "jungle" which is associated with disorderly urban development be prevented.

To the question, "Shall we rebuild again?" the answer is an emphatic "yes." In fact, we're already about the job following a rather slow start.

It's FTC Responsibility To Protect the Public

The Federal Trade Commission, the regulatory agency set up to protect the consuming public from unfair and misleading merchandising practices, reportedly is ready to move in on the television and radio industry to curb deceitful and bad-taste advertising.

Jogged into action by the shocking disclosures of rigged quiz shows, the agency appears ready to crack down hard.

The long-suffering public will welcome the move. Television and radio audiences indeed have been irritated and nauseated by commercials which apparently assume we are all fools. In addition, vast segments of the public have been shocked and angered by the quality of programs which appeal to the basest instincts. A steady diet of sadism, horror and bad taste reflects no credit upon an industry which could do so much in the public good.

We refuse to believe that television must put on such shows and to indulge in such bad commercials to attract viewers.

As we have said here many times, we are opposed to censorship. But television is an industry which needs badly to police itself as does radio to a lesser extent. And in the arena of trade practices, misleading advertising dreamed up by the high-pressure boys on Madison avenue is certainly a concern of the FTC.

If Nikita Will Match His Words With Deeds!

Nikita Khrushchev's foreign policy speech in Moscow was the most conservative he has ever made. On the surface at least it was the most reasonable.

But as we have learned from painful experience, we will hope but not expect too much. It remains to be seen whether he means it. We also must wait for understanding of words. Among our acquired bits of wisdom is the knowledge that words mean one thing to the Soviets and something else to others.

Nonetheless, we welcome the reasonableness and trust time will not destroy that aspect of it. Khrushchev said both sides would need to give a little on disarmament. He noted the historical ties between France and Algeria. He disavowed Soviet responsibility for Communist China's actions but strongly emphasized Russia's support for Red China's efforts to take over Formosa (Taiwan.) He also approved Soviet neutrality in the Communist Chinese border dispute with India.

All this may have been a mess of Russian dressing for the Allied Big Four meeting now set for Paris on Dec. 19. There the U.S., Britain, France and West Germany will meet and try to agree on a program to present through President Eisenhower when he journeys to Moscow in the spring and find a program of unity for the Summit meeting. Whether this will be held before the President's spring visit is not now known. If not, then the President will surely discuss it with Khrushchev.

Meanwhile, we will await with interest and hope any developments which will reveal whether or not the Soviet chairman means what he says or whether it was a dish of Russian dressing.

Russell Sounds Alarm On U.S. Lag in Space

Sen. Richard B. Russell has given us another image of President Eisenhower—"a man with his feet set in concrete."

The senator is aggrieved that the President is doing nothing to speed up this nation's date with outer space. To him it is a default which is "setting forces in motion that could leave us standing alone in the world."

The senator is at his angry best in recalling the fatuousness of former Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson who scoffed at basic research and said he didn't care what the other side of the moon looked like. The secretary was a symbol of the superior sense of values which the nation believes to be possessed by "practical" men. But even before he left office events came which made him look like a dull, stupid, uninformed man, proud of his ignorance and arrogance.

The senator is right when he says that the uncommitted peoples of the world are looking to strength and will turn to Russia if we do not become more dynamic as a symbol of Western strength and ability.

He is correct, too, in saying that the Russians have scored a tremendous psychological success. We are far behind and we are not bestirring ourselves.

We subscribe to the senator's concern.

But in our minds the administration's most immediate duty is to start the big debate. It has not allowed the people to know what it thinks. And what it appears to think is that the money is best being spent on a family of missiles and not on space-probing rockets.

And what it also seems to believe is that we can't have both without rather marked sacrifice. We will have to do without some comforts if we do both jobs. But sacrifice would be in order and sacrifice is an ugly word in a fat, comfortable nation, especially with an election a year away.

The administration ought to tell the people what it thinks. Let the debate begin.

Legislators See Results Of Slighting Mentally Ill

A group of legislators who toured the Milledgeville State Hospital the past two days expressed shame at conditions there. And well they might!

It was because of many years of indifference in the top rungs of government, including the General Assembly itself save for a handful of members, coupled with public apathy that led to Georgia's skid to the bottom in the field of mental health.

A start on the long pull upward has been made. Improvements have been effected at the State Hospital. The new leadership at the institution is making the most of what little it has to work with.

But it is well for each member of the Legislature and his wife to see, just as Gov. and Mrs. Vandiver did, the horrifying conditions and the multitude of inadequacies. The general public, too, should see for itself.

All who avail themselves of the opportunity to study the plight of patients there should note carefully how the acute shortage of psychiatrists has drastically reduced the likelihood of cures being effected in a vast number of cases; how hundreds are housed in fire traps; the extremely long work week of attendants; the shortage of facilities such as that whereby 550 patients in one building have only six bathtubs at their disposal, et cetera.

Georgians at last are awakening, slowly though it may seem, to their responsibilities in the field of mental health. It is up to Gov. Vandiver, the General Assembly and the State Health Department to follow through with concrete action as they have given every indication of intending to do.

Georgian Says Benson Is Not To Blame For Long-Time Failures of Farm Program

Albany—Last week I read a small news item entitled "Herman Blasts Ezra Benson Farm Program."

I think nearly everyone will agree that Georgia has two very able and excellent senators in practically all respects but I for one get fed up with their constant popping off as to Secretary Benson and the present farm program. Everyone knows that it leaves much to be desired but in view of past results just how will a new Democratic president help?

Unless I am mistaken this farm program started under Democratic President Roosevelt, was continued with changes under Democratic President Truman and now with more changes under the present administration. It has been pretty much of a failure from the start and the reason present costs are so high is the carrying cost and failure of past attempts — not Secretary Benson. These gentlemen should know these facts as well as you and I.

When the several farm factions cannot agree as to what should be done and how to do it and when Congress doesn't seem to know—just how a new Democratic president is going to solve the problem is a mystery to me.

M-Day Figures Called Inclusive of 31 Cities

Decatur—There has been so much publicity about Atlanta's metropolitan area having a million population that many people throughout the country think the city itself now has a million people. That is not so. The 1950 census showed about 328,000, according to my recollection. The 1960 census will probably show around 400,000 within the city limits.

On a trip to Columbus, Miss., last week, a number of people asked me about the city of a million. When I explained that included not only Atlanta but 31 cities and towns and five counties, they just laughed, and one friend suggested "Atlanta should annex the State of Georgia, North and South Carolina, Alabama and Florida; then it would be the largest city in the world—15,000,000—larger than Tokyo, London or New York."

Let Parents Give Flouride to Children

Washington—Much effort seems to be made over the country to put fluoride in city water under the assumption it will help small children have better teeth. It seems the simple solution of the matter is for parents who desire fluoride for their children to buy it at the drugstore and put it in their children's water or favorite drink. Two or three drinks each day will give the right amount at about a penny per day.

This method gives each child the right doses, as doses can be given according to the amount of water a child drinks. But put in city water, some may get too much, while others not get enough. This would also keep those past the age for benefiting from fluoride from drinking it and those who are allergic to fluoride from being harmed by drinking it.

This would save the taxpayers the extra expenses of treating water used for all purposes. Only a tiny portion of a city's water is drunk by the small children who would benefit from fluoride.

McGill, Wiley Hailed For Public Service

Atlanta — Seldom do I feel the inclination to write comments to the papers much less follow through in these rare moments. However, I wish to express appreciation for the services of two Atlantans, Constitution Editor Ralph McGill and Bell Irvin Wiley of Emory. McGill's keen perception and fairness, in my opinion, is outstanding. His column is a daily lesson in history and always opportune. Even though I do not agree with him at times, I must admit he stands on sound ground most of the time when presenting his views.

Wiley's success in the field of writing is easy to understand. Prejudice has no place in history and his objectiveness in placing history in its proper sphere is refreshing. DAILY READER.

The Public Needs a Voice In Major Economic Debates

After more than 100 days of deadlock, it is apparent that the steel industry and the United Steelworkers should not have the unrestricted right to continue the crisis indefinitely or to make an agreement harmful to the national economy.

And when the two sides are unable to agree even upon the facts of the issues in dispute, it is fair to ask whether they have the right any longer to conduct negotiations between themselves without public representation.

There is, for instance, no agreement whatever between the steel antagonists as to the financial basis of their dispute.

In the more important issue of work rules, the companies have insisted upon some agreement as a prerequisite to a wage settlement. This agreement, they now say, need be no more than a decision to submit work-rules changes to arbitration—the binding decision of a third party.

The steelworkers, however, have never admitted that there is anything wrong with the work rules. They cite their generally good record in cooperating with automation which even the companies admit—and the relative scarcity of featherbedding arrangements in the steel industry.

Sen. Kefauver and some other experts think a new pattern may evolve from the separate Kaiser settlement—one that would not only give the public a reliable picture of issues like these but which would actually give it a voice in deciding them. It is even possible, they say, that the Kaiser plan may make major strikes unnecessary.

This optimism is based on the idea of a three-party committee to represent the public, the steelworkers and the Kaiser company in finding ways by which cost savings can be equitably distributed. That would eliminate the need for regular contract deadlines and recurrent negotiations in which the strike threat is always present.

Time will tell if Sen. Kefauver and others are too optimistic. But it is certain that in the coming era of automation and heavy competition in world trade, the nation can no longer afford archaic production systems, crippling industrial stoppages, or a price-wage spiral that pushes our goods out of the competitive market. The national interest transcends the interest of either competing party in a major strike. It must be given a voice equal to theirs, by the Kaiser method or in some way yet to be devised.

Do 'Fixed' Goods Cheat the Buyer?

Now that we have all got our dander up about the TV shows being crooked, let us keep the fires of anger glowing and take out after a lot of other phoniness to which the poor stupid consumer has been subjected in the get-rich-quick days since the war.

I speak of little things. Of light bulbs, for example, which burn out before their time. So far as I know there's no reason why a light bulb should not last as long as the house which it illuminates—and 20-odd years ago they used to last. You were always reading in the paper little feature stories about single bulbs that had been burning in warehouses or railroad stations or wherever since Thomas Edison was in knee pants. Now I think they are building light bulbs that will burn out on purpose and if this is not so I will be glad to hear a rebuttal from the press agent of the bulb manufacturers.

I speak also of automobiles that are so poorly put together at the factory that you have to take them back to the dealer a half dozen times to get bolts tightened or the upholstery stuck back together. I think that they are hiring Japanese toy-manufacturers to put automobiles together now, particularly on the inside.

I don't like store-bought chicken pies with a pint of gooey gravy in them and a little piece of white meat you can hardly see. And I don't think the people who make automobile tires are making them as good as they know how. I don't think the tread ought to wear off an automobile tire in 10,000 miles.

I am beginning to look with dark suspicion on all household gadgets such as washers and dryers and garbage disposals that operate by transistors or little electric motors or whatever. I don't think these things should conk out as quickly as they do. I am tired of coming home to find my house full of repairmen.

It is, in fact, my opinion that we are thinking too much of style and eye-catching design and not enough of durability. Any time you buy anything that has knobs on it that you pull or push or turn, the first thing that happens is the knob comes off in your hand.

Fifty outraged public relations men may come storming in to prove me wrong but I've got the feeling that our famed technological know-how has led us into a trap. We know how to build things that will last and last and last. But our economic system depends on a constant flow from manufacturer, through distributor to salesman and consumer, of goods that wear out just about the time the last payment is made.

Could it be that we are deliberately building obsolescence into gadgets that could just as easily be built to last forever?

If that is true, what kind of morality is that?

Second-Man Role Frightens Hopefuls

WASHINGTON—There are few better routes to becoming president, say, of an insurance company than by first becoming its vice president. But one of the best possible ways of killing off an aspirant for president of the United States is to talk kindly of him for the vice presidency. Serious candidates for the top place must shrink from all such proposals as from the kiss of death.

In business, if you don't want a man for the very highest job, you see to it that he doesn't reach the second-highest. But in politics, you often try to stop him for the top job precisely by saying how good he would be for the second job.

This is what is happening to the present front-runner for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination, Sen. Kennedy of Massachusetts. And the still-hesitant challenger of Vice President Nixon for the GOP nomination, Gov. Rockefeller of New York, is coming in for the same treatment.

Rockefeller, who day by day is looking more savvy as a politician, has already spurned this dubious sort of affection at every opportunity. There is no doubt he means it. There is only the smallest doubt that he will continue to mean it. After all, the governorship of vast New York is historically a great springboard to the presidency.

And if Nixon and not Rockefeller should be nominated for president next year and Nixon should lose the election, the biggest man left in the GOP by any measure would then be Rockefeller, provided he had not been with Nixon on the defeated ticket.

Kennedy's people, too, have just made strong, fresh disclaimers of any willingness on his part to take second place. This, too, is no doubt meant—to a point. But the situation here is far different from that of Rockefeller. And it would be completely unrealistic to suppose that Kennedy would under no conceivable circumstances accept the vice presidency.

The Senate is historically a very poor launching pad for presidential rockets. If for no other reason, this is so because a senator must make a lot of enemies all over the country by voting week by week on hot national and international issues. A governor can usually limit his enemy-making to his own state.

Moreover, Kennedy has invested so much of his hopes in his early-starting thrust for the presidency that the vice presidency might appeal in certain eventualities—always provided he respected the top nominee.

Thus, a confident estimate of the present odds is this: They are perhaps 20 to 1 against Rockefeller's winding up as the GOP vice presidential nominee. They are at least even on Kennedy's doing so for the Democratic vice presidential nomination if two assumptions are accepted: That he himself doesn't get the presidential nomination and that whoever does will not be unacceptable to him.

Why Avoid Calling Sin by Its Name?

"I've stopped going to church because all that is talked about is sin." These words were recently spoken to me by an individual who told me that he has not attended church for many months. He seemed adamant in his thinking and I knew it would not do much good to discuss the matter further.

But some kind of venturesome gremlin at my side seemed to prod me to ask a few questions. So I asked a few questions just for the dickens of it.

"Have you stopped going any place where sin is talked about?" I asked.

"Pretty much so," he replied.

"And you have stopped reading the newspapers because they chronicle day by day the evils that men do?"

"No, I still read the papers but I don't go to church," the man answered.

"Have you stopped watching television plays and reading popular magazines, for they surely are about sin and sinners?"

We went on like that for some time. Nobody got angry and we didn't raise our voices. Yet I am sure that I didn't get through to him, as the children say. He continued to protest that he wouldn't go to church because all he hears about there is sin.

I do not believe that there is a church wherein only sin is talked about or even mostly talked about. The churches I know talk much more about salvation than sin and much more about the Saviour than the sinner.

But why should we object to the word sin anyway? Why shun the use of the word or try to avoid it as though sin is not a fact in human experience?

Furthermore, when the church in its proclamation of truth speaks of sin there is no attempt to glamorize it or to exploit sinfulness for any kind of sensational purposes as some newspapers and magazines do. Sin is described for what it is—violation of God's will for a man's life. The church is very honest in its consideration of sin. There is no attempt to rationalize about it or to adjust to sin.

The Apostle said that all have sinned and come short of the glory of God. I believe what he said. I am quite willing to admit that I am a sinner. And I readily admit that I need help if I am ever to conquer sin in my life.

If you say that I am speaking of a loathsome subject I will admit that, too, for nothing is as loathsome as sin. But I will not call black white nor will I try to call sin by another name and thereby hope to disguise it.

But we in the church do not stop speaking when we come to the subject of sin. We move on and affirm that there is One who in God's love redeems us from our sin. There is One who, when we are overcome of evil, helps us to overcome evil with good. That and not the subject of sin is the real Gospel.

Russell Sees Increase in Space Fund

Denounces Ike's 'Lack of Urgency'

By ALBERT RILEY
Constitution Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Sen. Russell (D-Ga) predicted Tuesday that Congress will vote more money for America's space program next year, whether President Eisenhower asks for it or not.

Criticizing the Eisenhower administration for a continued "lack of urgency" in the space competition with Russia, the senator termed Eisenhower's attitude "incomprehensible."

The President seems "determined not to go ahead" with the speed-up in America's space effort and "has his feet set in concrete", Russell declared.

TRANSFER NOT ENOUGH

Transfer of the Army's team of space experts, headed by Wernher Von Braun, to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is not sufficient, Russell said.

In announcing this transfer at a news conference in Augusta, Ga., recently, Eisenhower later indicated he saw no need for the United States to be engaged in space competition with Russia.

Congress can not administer the space program, Russell said. But, he pointed out that he personally wrote into the 1960 Defense Appropriations Act a provision empowering the President to transfer an extra $150 million to the missile program.

COULD SHIFT FUNDS

Eisenhower has not done this, Russell said, and in addition, the President could shift another $300 million in military budget funds to missiles if desired.

The Georgian, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said "more money, more oral support and more leadership" is needed to keep the U.S. from falling further behind the Soviets in space exploration, which has a vital propaganda effect on uncommitted nations of the world.

"Whether the President asks for it or not," Russell said, "I do believe that when Congress meets again next year the appropriations committee will call in the experts and get their own first-hand estimates of what funds are needed, and then give it to them, beyond what the President requests."

"I shall certainly advocate this," he added.

Billy Graham

Lead Drunk To Christ, Wife Told

QUESTION: I have been praying that my husband would become a Christian and stop drinking. Can he be saved through my prayers if he doesn't pray about it? I can't talk to him about it because he becomes violently angry when I do, and then he just drinks all the more.—H. F.

Don't be more concerned about discovering a cure for his drinking than in the conversion of a lost soul. It is doubtful if selfish prayers are given much consideration in heaven. In the Bible it is written, "Ye ask, and receive not because ye ask amiss, that ye may consume it in your pleasures" (James 4:3).

But before your husband is truly converted he will have to pray. Everyone does. It is the simple prayer of a penitent sinner who prays, "God be merciful to me, a sinner, and save me for Jesus' sake." The best part of it is that if he would do just that simple thing, God would accept him, not for his own goodness, but because salvation has been offered to all who trust in Christ.

It is also important that you don't nag your husband about this matter. The Bible says, "Likewise, ye wives, be in subjection to your own husbands; that if any obey not the word they also may without the word be won by the life of the wife." (I Peter 3:1).

Mexico Orders Radio Schooling

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Education Ministry is going to see to it that radio stations carry 15 minutes of educational programs daily. Twenty minutes of free time has been available but not used, so the ministry is preparing 15-minute programs for distribution to the stations. Later they may run the full 20 minutes.

ATLANTANS OF GREEK DESCENT AID RED CROSS

Adopted Atlantans Return Good Turn

Three "adopted Atlantans," all of Greek descent, can tell you first-hand how Red Cross helps people throughout the world.

"We try to help a little, too," smiles Mrs. George Kotsayianas, chairman of the Daughters of Penelope.

Mrs. Kotsoyianis and other "Penelopes" here spend hours each week at the Hellenic Center making surgical dressings. Another organization, the Philoptohos Society, spends two Thursdays a month at the Atlanta Red Cross headquarters.

HELPED IN QUAKES

Mrs. John Campbell, Atlanta, chairman of Philoptohos, said: "During World War II the Red Cross was always helping our people in Greece. Then in 1953, following the devastating earthquakes in the Ionian Islands of Greece, the American Red Cross sent assistance valued at more than $160,000. Later $306,358 was raised through the Red Cross for victims."

Another Atlanta volunteer, Mrs. Chris Gennis, was living in Greece during the war on the Isle of Colymnos.

"When German bombers brought destruction," she recalls, "Red Cross helped us with food, medical supplies, and clothing."

SOME GIVE BLOOD

Sixty members of the Greek groups which these women represent gave 1,671 hours of volunteer service here last year. Some members also help with the Red Cross blood program.

They can cite Red Cross services to nations besides their own.

"Red Cross societies cover 99 per cent of the globe," Mrs. Campbell declared. "We feel at home with the Red Cross because we know it helps peoples all over the world."

Atlanta's current United Appeal is raising funds for such programs, plus those of the far-reaching Community Chest agencies which aid citizens in Fulton, DeKalb, and Cobb counties. The $3,327,314 campaign is scheduled to end Nov. 12, and volunteers ask that Atlantans give before that deadline.

Baxley Still Owes $16,605

The state still has not collected $28,241 due the Board of Corrections by a contractor, the City of Baxley and Appling County, State Auditor B. E. Thrasher Jr. reported Tuesday.

The debt came to light during an investigation of irregularities in use of state funds and convicts for road work in Baxley.

The City of Baxley owes $16,605.57 for use of convict labor, Thrasher said.

Contractor Ted Odum of Jesup owes $11,256.67 in rental and transportation charges for use of a scraper belonging to the department, the auditor added.

And Appling County owes $380 for convict labor.

The audit shows that in the year ended last June 30 the Board of Corrections spent $3,653,833 for operating expenses and $167,407 for capital outlay. During the year it had revenues of $1,618,756 from sale of commodities, manufacture of tags and convict labor on highway maintenance.

The audit shows that there was an average daily inmate population of 4,648 convicts in the state prison branches, an increase of 12.8 per cent over the previous year. This does not include convicts in county work camps for which the counties bear all expense.

Slum Projects Hinging On Bonds, Douglas Says

Atlantans must vote bonds to finance all or any part of the three-project, $39 million urban renewal program recommended Monday if the fight against blight is to progress, Ald. Hamilton Douglas, chairman of the aldermanic board's urban renewal committee, warned Tuesday.

"A bond issue appears the only available way to finance the program, and thus far none has been projected. There are, however, many undertakings which will require bonds, and I am confident some arrangement can be made before the program is definitely decided upon."

Douglas said he will confer with his own committee, will ask recommendations from the citizens advisory committee, the Atlanta Housing Authority, the city's agent in the renewal program, and others interested in the problem. He added some extension of the fire-project existing program will be evolved as soon as practical.

"If we are to continue our renewal activities, we must keep projects in the pipe line," Douglas asserted. "It took us about four years to get where we are now on the five projects we already have scheduled. That means we must have projects ready to shove into the hopper on short notice."

The alderman praised the report filed Monday by the joint Atlanta Fulton County planning board. It was prepared by Col. Wyont Bean, planning engineer, and his aides, in cooperation with several other agencies.

Sam R. Young, planning board chairman, explained the report to aldermen, and it was sent to Douglas' committee for study and recommendation.

Under recommendations, some 1,354 additional acres near the core of the city's business district would be improved. If the existing formula—under which federal agencies bear two-thirds of the cost and local sponsors the remaining one-third—continues in operation, the city would be required to provide some $13 million for the three priority projects.

The plan also proposed 10 other renewal projects over a 20-year period.

Surplus Spending Halted

Gov. Vandiver indicated Tuesday he would place a moratorium on all further expenditures from the surplus fund until he can measure the steel strike's effect on Georgia economy.

The governor said Revenue Commissioner Dixon Oxford was "discouraged" by early November trends in tax collections.

Vandiver said he had received a letter from the State Board of Education setting up priority on future spending as follows:

1. Building an educational television station at Waycross before the state loses its channel permit, (2) raises for teachers, and (3) a trade school building program.

The governor would not reveal amounts requested by the board.

"The surplus is about $5.5 million, which is dangerously low when you look at the steel strike situation," Vandiver commented.

If it were not for the strike, he added, he might be inclined to make some allotments from the surplus.

(The $5.5 million figure does not include improvements in revenue collections made since July 1. These funds cannot officially be declared surplus until next June 30.)

Apparently the freeze on the surplus would apply to expenditures for the Milledgeville State Hospital, too, at least for the time being.

But Vandiver said he was pleased that members of the General Assembly were getting a first-hand look at the facilities.

"The legislators who go on these tours know what the problems are, and we can face them jointly," Vandiver declared.

Up to now, Vandiver declared, "just taking care of fundamental human needs has been a monumental task," Now it is time to make improvements in psychiatric care, he added.

Vandiver reported an "unusual response" from church, civic and business groups to the hospital's needs.

"There's an awareness now of the problem that we've never seen before, and the people of Georgia are ready for some changes," he said.

RHYME A DAY

By OLLIE REEVES

"Eskimos think nothing of exchanging wives, and this is one of their principal diverstons at their parties or festivals." —News filler.

One thinks about the Eskimo . . . In his igloo of ice and snow . . . Built somewhere on the frozen plains . . . And wonders why the man remains . . . In such surroundings when he could . . . Move to a warmer neighborhood.

You think the Eskimo should move? . . . Well, so do I, but does that prove . . . That he is wrong and we are right . . . When he comes home some Arctic night . . . to find his igloo occupied . . . By someone's blushing, brand-new bride?

You may think that's uncivilized . . . But, really now, are you surprised . . . That, in the Arctic social set . . . Good neighbors share the things they get . . . Just as they do in warmer climes . . . To prove they're not behind the times.

You're shocked a little bit because . . . They have a different set of laws . . . Theirs is the law of "give and take" . . . While here the laws are made to break . . . And people break them, you can bet . . . In every clime and social set.

Why criticize these frozen men? . . . It happens every now and then . . . (Quite rarely in your neighborhood) . . . But every day in Hollywood!

Vandiver Cutting Ribbon to Open Forest Fire Lab

Gov. Vandiver will cut the ribbon at 11 a.m. Wednesday to open the Georgia Forest Research Council's forest fire laboratory at Macon.

Vandiver will be assisted by Beth Hunt, 1959 4-H queen, and Suzanne Donnelly of the State Future Homemakers of America.

Also expected to be on hand are Dr. V. L. Harper of Washington, representing the U.S. Forestry Service; Jack S. HEALTH and HAPPINESS

By DR. SARA JORDAN

Doctor's Love For Humans Basic

Basic to the art of medicine is a love of the human being, the milk of human kindness, and a burning desire to help and comfort the sick. That ardent desire, equally forceful with the calling to theology, makes the young college graduate — who could take his academic degree and find a useful and perhaps lucrative niche in business—forego for the present all worldly compensations, sacrifice freedom for pleasurable pursuits and postpone for six to eight years the plans for supporting a family.

Wherein does he find his immediate reward for these sacrifices? In the immeasurable satisfactions which come from even his small part in the relief of suffering and in the promotion of better health for the human race.

GREAT JOY

Perhaps there is no greater joy in life than his happiness as an intern in seeing a patient who has been under his immediate care at the hospital brought back from misery to life and happiness.

He also usually finds even in the hard-boiled old reprobate patient a streak of basic goodness never before suspected. Most doctors believe in that basic goodness of mankind because they see men and women stripped of all "front," and in that mentally and emotionally nude state there are so often a goodness and a consideration for others that even family and friends had never suspected.

MAKES FOR OPTIMISM

All this makes for optimism in doctors, and, by the way, do you know any habitual pessimists in the medical profession? I don't. For in spite of the sadness we feel when young people have to die of some incurable disease, and in spite of the suffering which can sometimes not be relieved, there is always enough joy in the successful treatment of disease to keep him hopeful.

The doctor's enduring hope is that with science at his side he can fulfill that mission in life for which he devoted years of training and which he is sure must ultimately come—better and better medicine and greater happiness through health.

(Dr. Jordan cannot undertake to answer personal questions by mail. However, questions of general interest relating to health will be discussed from time to time in this column.)

a college education is worth $100,000.00 extra to your child

Statistics prove that a college graduate, on the average, earns $100,000 more in a lifetime than a high school graduate. You can give your youngster that enormous advantage for about $6,000 or even less, depending on the school chosen. And by saving with ATLANTA FEDERAL you can accumulate college funds easier than you might think. That's because you get back every cent you save plus earnings that can pay for a whole year's college if you start saving early enough. Stop by tomorrow and let one of ATLANTA FEDERAL'S savings counsellors show you how much to save each month to reach your goal.

Negroes Gain Here On Voting Rolls

Fulton Rise Put at 2,498 As Whites Decrease 4,892

By MARION GAINES

A revised roll of Fulton County registered voters—which was purged and updated during 1959—shows a decrease in the number of white voters and an increase in Negro voters.

Figures compiled and released Tuesday by the Metropolitan Voters Council revealed that since Jan. 1 the total numbers of Negroes registered to vote in Fulton County has increased by 2,498.

During the same period, the white voters' total has suffered a decline of 4,892.

However, total white registration (of 100,734) in Fulton is still about three times as great as the Negro total (of 31,163).

NET LOSS OF 8,141

The non-partisan MVC pointed out that registration books in Fulton and DeKalb counties have been purged under a 1957 law requiring the deletion of voters who haven't cast a ballot in two years.

Since Jan. 1, the MVC said, the combined Fulton-DeKalb total of registered voters has dropped some 10,535 and now stands at 190,560.

Actually, 17,577 KeKalb voters and 17,911 Fulton voters were purged during 1959, but re-registrations and new registrations cut the net losses to 8,141 in DeKalb and 2,394 in Fulton.

The MVC will meet with civic and political leaders Thursday to kick off a campaign aimed at encouraging citizens to register so they can vote in the 1960 presidential election and local elections.

ONLY 18 PCT. REGISTER

Only 18 per cent of Atlanta's eligible voters are registered, a small figure compared with the national average of 40 per cent. In the South, Atlanta ranks behind Louisville's 36 per cent, Charlotte's 30 per cent and Nashville's 26 per cent.

"We're trying to wake up the silent citizens," said Lee Burge, MVC president, "and give them a part in the progress of Atlanta."

As it now stands, DeKalb has 58,663 registered voters, including 4,944 re-registrations and 4,492 new registrations during 1959.

A breakdown of white and Negro totals in DeKalb was not available, an MVC official said.

Of the 131,897 registered voters in Fulton, the MVC said, 31,163 are Negroes.

Some 4,279 Fulton Negroes registered for the first time in '59 as against 5,436 whites, the MVC said.

At the beginning of the year, 15,392 whites and 2,519 Negroes were purged in Fulton. Reregistrations in 1959, the MVC said, totaled 5,064 whites and 738 Negroes.

BILLIE BURKE CHAMPIONS GRANDMOTHERS

"They Deserve a Break," Film Star Declares Here

Why Pile It on Van Doren? Billie Burke Asks Here

Ebullient Billie Burke, as breezily charming off the screen as she is on it, arrived in Atlanta Tuesday night with a kind word for beleaguered Charlie Van Doren: "Why pile it all on him? Others are equally as guilty."

Miss Burke, whose movie roles as a flighty scatterbrain have endeared her to millions, made it clear she wasn't condoning rigged quiz shows on television—a medium on which she frequently appears.

"We're all sort of heartbroken by it," she said, "but he (Van Doren) committed no heinous crime—and he certainly shouldn't be made the scapegoat for the entire industry."

Her zest for living unquenched by 75 years of it, Miss Burke is in the midst of a tour to boom her latest book: "With Powder on My Nose." She'll be at Rich's Book Shop from 2:30 to 4 p.m. Wednesday for an autographing party.

The book is a potpourri of "my impressions of grandmothers, mothers-in-law, teen-agers" and a good many other things.

In championing grandmothers, Miss Burke wants to see American families "give them a break and let them get to know their grandchildren."

The best mother-in-law, she said, "is a woman who owns a yacht and stays on it."

Russia Pays Tribute

MOSCOW (UPI)—The newspaper Soviet Aviation paid tribute to the Russian space dog Laika Tuesday on the second anniversary of its launching in Sputnik II.

Fulton Studies Pay Of Teachers

With its members declaring that increases are vitally needed in the pay scales of school teachers, the Fulton County Board of Education Tuesday appointed a committee to revise teachers' pay scales.

Named chairman of the committee was Mrs. P. D. Christian Jr., board vice president, who said she felt the raises "are a real necessity." She added, however, that she didn't know where money for the raises is coming from.

FUTURE TOUGHER

Board President W. L. Robinson noted in appointing the committee that the board in 1958, in setting its tax rate, said it wanted to raise teachers' pay when money was available.

Robinson pointed to recent comparisons of teacher pay with that of other professions and said, "It showed we think twice as much of the pipes the plumbers fix as we do of our children and the teachers who train their minds."

Board Member L. Marvin Rivers was named to the study committee with Mrs. Christian.

Board Member Perry Hudson declared that the board had not yet had as big a problem on finding teachers as it will in the future.

NEEDED FOR MORALE

Mrs. Christian said many teachers trained in Georgia want to teach here, but don't even consider teaching in the state because of low pay. They are winding up in Florida and North Carolina, she said.

Supt. Paul D. West said the raises are needed to "maintain our high professional standards" and to keep up staff morale. "The strength of any school system," he added, "lies in the quality of classroom instruction." He said this has a high correlation to salaries.

In other actions, the board was told by West that 313 county teachers have signed up to attend 1,475 professional instruction meetings voluntarily to improve their training.

Nurse Unit Urged: Let In Negroes

The president of the American Nurses Assn. said her organization "hopes" the Georgia Nurses Assn. will follow the lead of 49 other state associations and accept qualified Negro members.

Miss Mathilda Scheuer of Philadelphia is here for the annual convention of the Georgia Nurses Assn., which opens Thursday in the Dinkler Plaza Hotel. Miss Scheuer will speak at the 3 p.m. and 8 p.m. sessions Thursday.

The Georgia Assn. of Industrial Nurses will meet at noon Wednesday in the Dinkler Plaza. Miss Bernadine Striegel of New York will speak then and William S. Seymour, Boston insuranceman, will talk at a dinner meeting Wednesday.

Asked about reports that some Negro nurses from Grady Hospital had sought to attend technical sessions of the convention, Miss Olive Barbin, state president, said she knew nothing about it. Miss Barbin said because of limited facilities, only GNA members who have badges will be admitted to the sessions.

GAS STATION

2 Bandits Get $400 In DeKalb

Two white bandits armed with a double-barrel shotgun late Monday robbed the Thoni service station on Highway 42 of approximately $400, DeKalb County police said.

Bobby Roberts, night attendant at the station just south of Atlanta, said the two drove in and asked for the station manager. Told that the manager had gone home, they replied: "Okay—be seeing you" and drove away.

Returning minutes later, he said, one pointed a double-barrel shotgun out the window and said: "Let's have it."

He said the two rifled a night safe, took the money and then sped south towards Jonesboro in a 1953 model auto.

Ike to Visit 6 Lands On Pre-Parley Tour

Adds Mideast, Asia in Reply To 'Europe First' Criticism

By WILLIAM J. JORDEN
(Copyright 1959 by the New York Times Co.)

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower will visit six countries in Europe, the Middle East and Asia before the four-power Western summit meeting in Paris next month, informed sources said Tuesday night.

The President's longest trip abroad since he took office will take him to Italy, Greece, Turkey, Iran, Pakistan and India. The trip probably will begin on Dec. 3 and the President plans to return to Washington a day or two before Christmas, it was learned.

SCHEDULED DEC. 19

The President's meeting with British Prime Minister Macmillan, French President de Gaulle, and West German Chancellor Adenauer is scheduled to begin Dec. 19.

The first stop on the President's tour will be Rome. He will confer Dec. 4 and 5 with President Giovanni Gronchi and Premier Antonio Segni. It would not be surprising if the President also had an audience with Pope John at the Vatican.

Detailed planning for the long presidential journey still is in progress. The President is expected to announce at least broad details of his journey at his news conference Wednesday morning.

As rumors of the Eisenhower trip moved through Washington, dilomats hailed the project as a "brilliant idea." Envoys of the countries involved, while refusing to confirm reports of a visit to their country, were unanimous in approving the plan.

TO ANSWER CRITICS

By including major countries of the Middle East and Asia in his itinerary, the President would be answering some of the strongest critics of U.S. policy. These critics, many of them basically friendly to this country, have accused the U.S. government of following a "Europe first" policy while it ignored other areas of the world.

The journey doubtless will emphasize, as no oral expressions of interest or concern could, the fact that the President and the U.S. government are genuinely solicitious of opinions and problems in friendly countries.

Eisenhower's trip will also serve as an oportunity to promote in the countries concerned a better understanding of U.S. policy and attitudes.

N.Y. Bonds For Schools Trailing

NEW YORK (AP)—A proposal to allow New York City to float a half-billion-dollar bond issue for new schools appeared headed for defeat Tuesday night in off-year balloting throughout the state.

About one-fourth of the returns were in.

The vote on the bond issue was statewide because a state constitutional amendment would have been required for the city to borrow outside its debt limit.

MAYOR DEALT BLOW

The way the issue was trailing, particularly in New York City, was a blow to the prestige of Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who had campaigned vigorously in its favor. Wagner has been mentioned as a possibility for the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

In mayoral contests, Republicans won seats from Democrats in Utica, Amsterdam, Canandaigua, Auburn, Ithaca, Rome, Peekskill, Troy, and Corning. In Democratic Auburn, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller had thrown his prestige behind the Republican candidate. Rockefeller has been mentioned as a possible Republican Presidential nominee.

DEMOCRATS SCORE

Democrats ousted Republican mayors in Poughkeepsie, Cortland, Ogdensburg, and Oneida, and unseated a Liberal mayor in Oswego. The Liberty party is confined to New York state.

There were no statewide contests other than the school bond issue and eight other amendments.

NO INDICTMENTS REPORTED

Grand Jury Quits, Lynch Unsettled

POPLARVILLE, Miss. (AP)—The Pearl River County grand jury recessed abruptly Tuesdya amid rumors that its work was concluded and the lynching of Negro Mack Charles Parker would remain officially unsolved.

Street corner conversation in this southeast Mississippi farming community indicated the lynching was not considered and speculated that no indictments would be returned when the grand jury makes its final report in Circuit Court Thursday.

CAREFUL WATCH

The 18 jurors, most of them farmers from around Poplarville, filed in and out of the session room for coffee breaks and lunch without divulging what cases they had considered.

Newsmen on careful watch in the hall near the door were unable to determine for certain whether FBI agents were among witnesses questioned Monday and Tuesday.

Nevertheless, the general opinion was that no agents had been subpoenaed to testify concerning their month-long investigation of the lynching and their almost 400-page report now in the hands of Dist. Atty. Vernon Broom.

UNLESS REQUESTED

Broom had said he would not present the report to the grand jury unless requested.

Observers agreed that the jury almost certainly has been curious enough to demand the FBI report to learn whose names were mentioned.

Speculation lists the names of as many as 20 persons as having taken part in the lynching.

U.S. Will Sell Poland 200,000 Tons of Grain

(Copyright 1959 by the New York Times Co.)

WASHINGTON—The United States will sell Poland 200,000 tons of fodder grains to help overcome Poland's drastic meat shortage.

The sale, which has been negotiated under U.S. Public Law 480 governing the disposal of surplus agricultural products, is expected to be announced Wednesday in Warsaw and Washington.

The cost of the fodder will be about $10,600,000, and shipping costs will amount to $1,200,000. Poland will pay the total costs in zlotys.

The Poles welcome this badly needed assistance, but it falls below the hopes and expectations they had when discussions began last March on a third sales and credit agreement.

In 1957 Poland got a $30,000,000 credit and purchased $65,000,000 worth of surplus farm products. In 1958, she got a $25,000,000 loan and bought $73,000,000 in farm products.

Poland had hoped for a comparable agreement this year. However, when the first part of the 1959 agreement was announced last June, it provided only for $44,000,000 in sales of surplus farm products, plus a $6,000,000 credit, of which $2,000,000 was for the purchases of poliomyelitis vaccine and $4,000,000 to help defray ocean freight charges.

The second installment of the 1959 agreement will raise the total to $61,800,000.

Ben-Gurion's Party Leads In Israel Vote

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, Wednesday (UPI)—Premier David Ben-Gurion's moderate Mapai Labor Party took an expected lead in early returns from Tuesday's Knesset parliament elections. Observers predicted the trend in favor of Mapai would continue throughout the vote counting.

With returns in from 200 of Israel's 2,000 polling stations, Mapai won 12,780 of the 27,083 valid votes counted. This represented 47.8 per cent of the total tallied.

About 80 per cent of the total of 1,200,000 eligible voters cast ballots.

Pole-Turk Contest Still Deadlocks U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly smashed all records Tuesday in casting ballots to fill a Security Council vacancy but failed to break the Turkish-Polish deadlock.

Victor A. Belaunde of Peru, Assembly president, declared there appeared to be no prospect at present of resolving the deadlock. At his suggestion the next round of voting was delayed until Nov. 17.

The Assembly took six additional ballots Tuesday, bringing the total to 37, the highest ever cast.

On the 37th ballot the vote was 42 for Turkey and 36 for Poland, with Turkey 10 votes short of the required two-thirds majority. Poland started out with a one-vote lead, but the same seesaw pattern developed as on previous occasions.

A spokesman for the United States, a principal supporter of Turkey, said his delegation was determined to stick with Turkey. He said the United States had no knowledge of any move to effect a compromise.

The previous record on votes to fill a Council seat was made in 1955, when 36 ballots were taken over a two-months period in a contest between Yugoslavia and the Philippines.

Poland and Turkey are battling for the seat to be vacated by Japan on Jan. 1. Ecuador and Ceylon have already been chosen as the other two members to begin serving on that date.

Considerable prestige is attached to election to the 11-nation Security Council. It is made up of the five permanent members—United States, Britain, Soviet Union, France and China—and six members who serve for two-year terms.

Democrats Chalk Up A Sweep

ocrats ousted Republicans in Poughkeepsie, Cortland, Odensburg and Oneida and unseated a Liberal mayor in Oswego.

In Connecticut, Democrats chalked up three upset victories and kept control of the largest cities in 15 elections. They won GOP-held Stamford, regained control of Waterbury, took Fairfield for the first time since 1908 and won a record repeat victory in Bridgeport. They also held on to New Haven. Republicans won surprise victories in Meriden and Norwalk. Meriden had had a Democratic mayor, Norwalk an Independent.

New York voters, in an apparent revolt against heavier spending, defeated a proposed state amendment to permit New York City to borrow half a billion dollars for schools. Gov. Nelson Rockefeller had given the bond issue lukewarm support.

Mississippi voters went through the formality of electiong Ross R. Barnett, 61-year-old Jackson attorney, their new governor to succeed J. P. Coleman, who could not succeed himself. Barnett, a runoff primary winner, had no opposition.

Mississippi Democrats crushed a Republican effort to elect a man to the state legislature for the first time since Reconstruction Days.

Democratic Sen. Hayden Campbell defeated Republican W. V. Westbrook, a young Jackson businessman, by a margin of about six to one on the basis of unofficial, incomplete returns.

Twenty-four of Hinds County's 75 precincts reporting gave Campbell 2,954 votes to 496 for Westbrook.

In Florida, Gov. Collins conceded defeat of the reapportionment amendment Tuesday night, and said he absolutely will not call a special session of the legislature to make another stab at an acceptable plan.

Collins, who carried the banner for the 44-senator, 103-member House proposal turned down by the people Tuesday night, said he was greatly discouraged at the small voter turnout and the results of the vote.

the only division that has exceeded its quota.

Noting that "in former years both the Community Chest and Red Cross campaigns have been extended when they failed to reach their goals," the general chairmen declared.

"We believe this is unsatisfactory to the public. It is a waste of time and manpower. It is inefficient. We intend that this pattern be discouraged."

They have previously said the UA drive would end on time, the chairman asserted, and "we definitely mean it. We are sincere in this."

It can end "as a great victory," they said, only "if volunteers will fulfill their responsibilities."

Contributions already received, they added, indicate Greater Atlantans are ready and willing to donate if volunteers will contact them.

City Drafts Integration Plan With 18 Rules for Placement

Hooper's order calling for an integration plan by Dec. 1.

The circulation of the proposal indicates the board has little hope of being granted the stay. The Hooper order has been appealed to the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals.

MEETINGS PLANNED

Latimer was emphatic in a contention that no plan had been approved and asserted none will be approved except at a meeting of the board itself. He said plans adopted by Alabama, Virginia, North Carolina and other states have been reviewed.

The board has already planned a series of meetings with city and state officials and legislators to acquaint them with the proposed plan. A public meeting of the board Nov. 30 has been planned to unveil the proposal before submission to Judge Hooper the next day.

Judge Hooper's ruling in the case took cognizance of the fact that state laws existed prohibiting mixing of the races in Georgia classrooms. The proposed plan—if and when adopted by the city Board of Education—still would have to be approved by the legislature.

REQUEST REQUIRED

Under the board's proposal Atlanta pupils who do not make application for transfer would automatically go back to the same school they attended the previous year. Those who do apply for a change would be interviewed by the school officials and assigned on the basis of the 18 points of the plan.

The pupil could appeal any decision to the State Board of Education.

All new pupils in the system—white or Negro—would be placed in accordance with the proposal.

The plan also would give the school board authority to discharge pupils who are 16 and seem incapable of further education. It also gives the authority to assign these pupils to vocational schools.

$64,000 Sponsor Knew Quiz Was Fixed, Probe Told

was merely one of numerous former contestants who have testified to program frauds.

Koplin was the first from the production end to bring the rigging story into the open—although he preferred to call it controlling. And he was the first to put a finger on a sponsor as knowing what was going on.

With reference to the "$64,000 Question" and Revlon, a cosmetics firm, Richard N. Goodwin of the subcommittee staff asked Koplin: "The sponsor was fully aware the program was being controlled by the producer?"

"It is my opinion that is a fair statement, yes," Koplin replied. "As far as I know, that is a true statement, sir."

He named Martin Revson, a vice president of Revlon, as spokesman for the company at these sessions. Carlin also backed up this testimony as to Revlon's knowledge.

Revlon issued this statement Tuesday night in Washington:

"Pressure from a sponsor to do a better job did not give quiz program producers a license to cheat.

"Ownership of the shows in question and control of their contents, except for commercials, remained solely in the hands of the producing company, Entertainment Productions, Inc. Revlon did suggest numerous ways in which the programs could be improved, but rigging was not one of them."

The "$64,000 Question was originated by Louis G. Cowan, now president of CBS-TV. Koplin said that no, the program wasn't designed as a controlled show, but became one after the first few months to keep up its ratings.

Cowan has said there was no rigging of the show during seven weeks in 1955 when he was actively associated with it.

And Koplin told the subcommittee that the show was completely honest while Cowan was connected with it directly.

Cowan once owned stock in Entertainment Productions, Inc., which produced the "$64,000" shows. He said last month he got rid of his interest when he became president of the CBS-TV network in March 1958.

The House investigators reportedly are interested in bringing Cowan to the witness stand. But the TV executive has been in the hospital with a leg ailment.

The names of some of the big winners on the quiz programs were brought up and Koplin said Teddy Nadler and Dr. Joyce Brothers got no coaching and didn't need it.

Nadler is from St. Louis. He won $264,000 on the two $64,000 shows. Koplin pictured him as being "completely encyclopedic in some areas."

Amid laughter, Koplin said that with Nadler "you merely had to push the right button and you got a complete flood of information."

There was no need to help him, Koplin said, as long as questions were confined to Nadler's general area of knowledge.

"If you asked him a question about American history he would talk for 20 minutes," Koplin said. "In areas in which he was interested, he seemed to know everything."

One of the big problems while Nadler was a contestant, Koplin continued, was to find opponents who could come close to matching Nadler's knowledge.

Dr. Brothers is the blonde psychologist who collected $134,000 as a boxing expert. Koplin called her a "synthetic expert" with an amazing memory.

He said she originally wanted to appear as an authority on psychology and home economics but he told her that because of the contrast a young woman would have a better chance with something like boxing or wrestling.

So, he said, she went home, digested encyclopedias on boxing and came back as an expert—"to my complete surprise she was able to handle all kinds of questions."

Myrtle Power of Buford, Ga., got only passing mention. She amazed quiz fans with her knowledge of baseball facts and figures. Koplin said she was screened ahead of time to determine her area of knowledge. But he didn't say and wasn't asked whether she was fed any questions and answers.

Fulton Asks To Keep Ray In Custody

Laurens to the punch in this latest round in the see-saw battle for jurisdiction in the controversial tax case.

It was learned that Fulton Sol. Gen. Paul Webb was preparing a request to maintain custody of Ray in connection with pending cases.

That does not mean that Ray will not go to Dublin when Laurens Superior Court tries the Cordell-Green case.

If he goes, however, he presumably will remain under the protection and custody of a Fulton deputy sheriff.

Fulton Chief Deputy Sheriff LeRoy N. Stynchcombe said Tuesday that a Laurens subpoena for Ray was received in the mail at the county jail by Chief Jailer Carl W. Smithwick.

Ray, who is still at the jail, received the subpoena, but Stynchcombe said it was "no good . . . the man's in jail. He's under sentence. He can't respond to a subpoena."

Stynchcombe added that "it's going to take a court order to get him."

The Cordell-Green case was one of several sales tax irregularities disclosed during the special Cadenhead investigation of wrong-doing in the Griffin administration.

Webb and Laurens Sol. Gen. Harold Webb agreed to transfer the case to Laurens. But a grand jury there no-billed Clayton Cordell and Rep. Harry Green, partners in an automobile agency.

Then, after controversy provoked when the Tax Compromise Board dropped a $52,000 tax claim against Cordell-Green, Fulton took jurisdiction back. Cordell was indicted on conspiracy charges.

Then, at the urging of Laurens Superior Court Judge R. I. Stephens, the Laurens grand jury indicted both Cordell and Green, thereby launching a race to see which county would try Cordell first.

Laurens apparently won that race, because the trial is now scheduled for next Monday.

sioner. Besides the three leaders the votes went: Steffen Thomas, 292; Jack Bailey, 274; Elvin B. Burney, 265; James R Cagle, 232; Norman Rutledge Andrew, 203; Johnny Crowder, 194, and Carl Gormon, 174.

In the school board election Shows won 456 votes, Dr. W. J. Greenway Jr., polled 350, Carl R. Ingemanson received 324, and R. Bruce Richardson got 164 votes.

A total of 263 ballots were cast in the Avondale election with Bishop receiving 224; Porter, 175; Lawson, 171, and Mrs. Peyton I. Lingle, 143 votes, City Manager Dewey Brown said.

Evans, a lifelong resident of DeKalb County, is a partner in the Avondale Estates business firm of Mallory and Evans. He will serve on the commission until the end of Harris' term which expires in 1960.

The new county commissioner is married to the former Nancy Hull and has three children. He is a graduate of Decatur High School and the University of Georgia. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Rufus Evans. Dr. Evans is chairman of the DeKalb Hospital Authority .

In a statement to The Constitution, Evans said, "I realize that the position of commissioner of DeKalb County carries with it much responsibility, and, as I said in my campaign, I am going to represent people of all sections of DeKalb County to the best of my ability. It is my firm intention to cooperate with the other four members . . . to bring stable government to the county so that DeKalb will continue its great progress."

Captain Stays On Stricken Ship

BUENAVENTURA, Colombia (UPI) — Capt. Johan Johansen Samuelsen Tuesday was alone on his grounded Norwegian freighter Olav Bakke, determined to "die with his ship" if necessary.

The ship ran aground last week on Negrillos Island, two hours from this Pacific Coast port.

Colombian naval vessels took off the 45 crewmen. All efforts have failed to free the grounded freighter.

Law Experts Fear Trend Toward Case-Snatching

rector J. W. Brinson to defraud the state. Rollins still is a member of the State Board of Corrections.

Fulton courts also have been running an "unofficial" race with a Laurens County jury in Dublin for jurisdiction in the Cordell-Green Motor Co. sales tax case.

TRIAL NEXT MONDAY

Trial of Clayton W. Cordell and State Rep. Harry E. Green is scheduled for next Monday in Dublin. Cordell is scheduled to go on trial in Fulton County Dec. 8 on virtually the same charges. Obviously if Cordell's case is disposed of in Dublin, he could not be tried again in Atlanta.

One state official said future Fulton County grand jury probes of state government and the special criminal division of the state attorney general's office virtually could be paralyzed if case-snatching becomes a widespread practice.

Another said recent trends are "disturbing as hell."

"The whole process of law may be going on trial," he said.

NO PROVISION IN LAW

There is no provision in Georgia law, according to the experts, to prevent a person under indictment from being indicted again on the same offense in another jurisdiction.

One expert said it was his "curbstone opinion" that the law already prohibits a grand jury from going outside the jurisdiction of its own county in criminal investigations.

But the case involving conspiracy is an exception, he said, because a conspiracy may be perpetrated in many counties.

State Out Billboard Millions

Doing nothing to keep billboards from certain sections of the federal interstate highway system may cost Georgia from $2½ million to $3 million.

Under a federal law, the federal government would pay to the state an extra one half of one per cent of the cost of certain sections of the super highway if the state would enact a law to keep advertisement materials off those sections.

The sections run through incorporated areas, commercial and industrial zones and over old rights-of-way.

But Chief State Highway Engineer M. L. Shadburn said Tuesday that it might cost more to enforce the ban than the state would gain in extra funds.

"I'd personally hate to have to interpret it (the law) and administer it," he said. "It'd be practically impossible to do so. It looks too costly for what we'd get out of it."

He said he is anti-billboard, "but I don't know anyway to control them."

Georgia Roads Deathless for 3 Days in October

Death struck on Georgia highways on all but three of October's 31 days, the Department of Public Safety reported Tuesday.

The department said only Oct. 1, 19 and 22 were without fatal accidents.

The death count for the year through October was 796—an increase of 35 over the number that had been killed at the same time last year.

Wednesday, Oct. 6, was the deadliest day of last month. Six persons were killed on that day.

Floods Spread Mines in Syria

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — The newspaper Al Ayyam asserted Tuesday that thousands of U.S.-made mines have been swept into the northern district of Syria from Turkey by floods the past 10 days.

It said army units were battling to head them off from flood-stricken towns. Unofficial reports said 52 Syrians had been killed and dozens injured by mine explosions. The mines were said to have been laid along the border to prevent smuggling and illegal crossings.

Put Nerves to Sleep-Stop Pain of Swollen Piles in Minutes!
Remarkable compound ends painful misery... while reducing the swelling and promoting healing of raw tissues!

Pain, itching of swollen piles are torture. You may think there's no relief without an operation. Yet...thousands have discovered how to stop this nagging discomfort in minutes — and without surgery! A remarkable compound you use at home makes you feel worlds better, right away! Not only reduces swelling but stops pain at once, promotes healing of inflamed tissues too!

Preparations that just act to "shrink" piles can't offer complete symptomatic relief. For real comfort, fast, you need this more complete medication, called Stainless Pazo. In doctors' tests, patients reported immediate relief of discomfort. That's because Stainless Pazo combines the most effective ingredients known for piles. Thus works 3 ways at once: 1. Anesthetic action stops pain, itching in minutes... puts rectal nerves to sleep, thus relaxing muscle spasms that cause discomfort. 2. Reduces tissue swelling, congestion... protruding parts shrink. 3. Promotes healing of raw tissues. You get immediate new comfort while Nature's own healing magic goes to work.

Don't suffer needlessly one more day. To sit, stand, walk without pain again, get Stainless Pazo Suppositories or Ointment at druggists. Get glorious relief without surgery or money back!

Many an apparently ironclad contract is susceptible to a killing defense, if only the defenders will maintain hope and look for a way to defeat it.

In today's hand South became declarer at a contract of four hearts. The king of diamonds was opened and East followed with the ten. The ace was continued and East dropped the queen. West knew that declarer could overruff his partner; so he shifted to the singleton club. This was taken in dummy and a low heart led to the queen. West won with the ace and continued with the nine of diamonds. East made a useless discard, declarer ruffed, extracted trumps and claimed the remainder.

East's discard on the nine of diamonds was rather thoughtless. The ten of hearts was of no earthly use to him, and he should have ruffed his partner's good trick with the hope that it might force a high trump and thus develop something for his partner. This play is known colloquially as the "upper cut." It will be seen that the ten of hearts would have forced the jack from declarer's hand and would have promoted West's nine to winning rank.

While East missed a chance to excel, West, in our view was the real culprit. At trick three he should have realized that the only hope to defeat the contract was to take two trump tricks, for the bidding and play plainly indicates that South holds the missing honor or strength. After winning with the ace of diamonds, West should continue with a small diamond. This play will force East to trump and it will require no great amount of vision to ruff with the ten rather than the deuce.

All Charges Dismissed in Grady Shooting

By KEELER McCARTNEY

Municipal Judge James Webb Tuesday dismissed charges against a security officer at Grady Hospital and a visitor to the hospital who was wounded by the officer's pistol fire.

Judge Webb pointed out that William Clinton Cowan, 72, the security officer, and Paul Russell Brown, 23, of Riverdale, gave different versions of what happened and there were no witnesses.

Cowan insisted that Brown attacked him with a knife after he asked Brown not to drink a soft drink in the hospital lobby, inflicting a rip in his shirt, and said:

"I shot because I was in fear for my life."

Brown said that after the security officer told him not to finish the drink in the lobby he turned to leave, placing his hand in his pocket from force of habit.

"I never no more got mad at him than anything," Brown said. "I wasn't mad before the shooting and I wasn't mad after it was over."

Still wearing the clothing he wore at the hospital Sunday, Brown pointed out where the bullet ripped a hole through his coat and shirt, inflicted a flesh wound across his abdomen and emerged on the other side.

"Thank God I was turning as he fired the shot," Brown said. "If I hadn't been, I might not be here."

Brown denied that he drew a knife from his pocket or that he attacked Cowan with it. He said he was visiting at the hospital where his father, Fernander Brown, a heart patient, was critically ...

Hospital Superintendent Frank Wilson said Cowan, suspended during an investigation of the incident, would be reinstated in his job as security officer Wednesday.

The sixth floor ward was crowded, Brown related in the court, and he went downstairs. He said his wife and mother had just finished a soft drink and a younger brother, Douglas Brown, 15, got him one.

Brown said he walked to the hospital lobby, which was lined with soft drink bottles and sandwich wrappers, and started his drink. He told the court Cowan walked up "and got awfully mad."

Brown said he walked to the front door, Cowan followed him and said: "You can't drink it up here, either."

"I told him I would go out on the sidewalk with my drink and it wouldn't bother him or anyone else," he said. "As I turned from force of habit I put my hand in my pocket and he shot."

Brown exhibited a small knife which he said he used around the lumber shop where he is employed. He said after the shooting Cowan demanded to know if he had a knife. He added he handed over the knife, taking it from his pocket still closed.

Cowan said he observed Brown in the lobby with the drink and asked him to please go back to the Caravan Room. He told the court Brown made "a bright remark which I ignored and walked away."

"He walked by me and whipped out a knife and made a whack at me," Cowan said. "He told me, 'don't say another word.'"

After firing the shot, Cowan said, he demanded the knife and then asked Brown if he needed a stretcher. He said Brown replied that he did not.

Cowan said he and Dr. Roger Rowell walked with Brown to the emergency clinic, where he was treated.

Dr. Rowell testified that he was working in a room near the lobby and heard loud noises but added the shot was fired before he arrived on the scene. He said he heard Cowan demand the knife and saw Brown hand it over.

David Daniel, a visitor to the hospital, said he was standing by the elevator when Cowan and Brown came by after the shooting. He said he heard Cowan ask Brown if he had a knife. Brown replied yes, took the knife from his pocket and handed it over.

Mrs. Helen Waters, information clerk at the hospital, said she saw Brown in the lobby seated on a sofa drinking a soft drink. She said she noticed Cowan approach Brown and then saw Cowan walk out followed by Brown.

Under cross-examination, hospital employes admitted that no signs are posted in the lobby forbidding the drinking of soft drinks there.

Supt. Wilson described Cowan as . . . "a good man, conscientious and always on the job." He added he had had no complaints on Cowan during his two years' work at Grady.

NEW PARKS DIRECTOR

Richard Lane

Lane Given East Point Parks Post

Richard G. Lane has been named superintendent of parks and recreation for East Point. He succeeds J. Roy Grayson, former director who was fired after an incident in which white girls demonstrated water safety in a Negro swimming pool.

Lane, 32, has been assistant superintendent of the department since 1952 when he went to work for the city. He is an East Point native and has a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Georgia, where he majored in psychology. He has bachelor and masters degrees from John Marshall Law School.

The young director says that he does not plan any special programs now. "I just plan to enlarge the program we have," Lane said.

East Point's City Council voted unanimously to install Lane as superintendent. Lane had been acting director of the department since Grayson was fired Sept. 8.

CAR SEIZED

Ex-Mental Patient Held In Robberies

A 34-year-old former mental patient Tuesday was arrested following a series of attempted robberies over northeast Atlanta, police said.

Detectives Y. H. Allen and O. L. Adams said they were told the man, identified as Claude Nesbit Pelot Jr., began by attempting to rob a service station at 660 Lindbergh Dr., NE.

Failing in that, officers said, he attempted to commandeer an auto in which a woman customer was sitting.

Next, they said, he commandeered a passing auto driven by a woman, robbed her of $154, put her out and wrecked the car.

Detectives said before beginning the attempted robberies, Pelot rammed a station wagon into a store at Lindbergh drive and piedmont road, NE, a half block from the service station .They added the station wagon had been reported stolen in Macon.

Pelot walked up behind the station manager, W. A. Posey, who was delivering gasoline to a car driven by Mrs. Clara Stirk, of 780 Lindbergh Dr., and told Posey: "This is a stickup—give me your money."

Mrs. Stirk saw what was happening and attempted to drive away. Detectives said Pelot shoved Mrs. Stirk from the steering wheel and started to drive away. The car motor choked down.

Detectives said Pelot then ran to a car occupied by Mrs. Loraine David Smith, of 2780 Mitchell Dr., Decatur, yanked open the door, struck Mrs. Smith on the arm, and drove away with her.

Pelot took $154 from Mrs. Smith and put her from the car, detectives said they were told. They said he drove away and a short time later was involved in an accident at North Druid Hills road and the Buford highway.

Perry's Epidemic of Football Fever Spreads to Our Sunday Magazine

Look for these interesting articles coming in Sunday's Atlanta Journal and Constitution Magazine:

THEY'RE FOOTBALL CRAZY . . . Football fever is rapidly spreading down in Perry and it's already infected most of the folks in and around that bustling rural Georgia town. Karl Fleming, magazine staff writer, tells us the Friday night game is the high point of the social week and a good many of the businesses close up shop in time to watch their excellent high school team in action.

SHE BOOSTS NEW BOSS FOR PRESIDENT . . . "I believe a Democrat will be the next president," declared Miss Grace Tully, who was private secretary to Franklin D. Roosevelt for 17 years, and is now executive assistant to Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson. Miss Tully recently made a visit to Warm Springs and in this informative article she talks with magazine staff writer Katherine Barnwell about her new boss and his chances for the Democratic nomination.

HOUSE MOTHER CAUGHT HER KISSING . . . The house mother at this small coeducational college emphatically does not approve of a girl kissing her date goodnight and she recently gave a girl a stern lecture for bussing her beau. The young ladies are mystified—and a bit miffed—at her ideas. Marie Rose, in her regular column, tells what she thinks about this situation.

Insurance Hearing Flops in 90 Minutes

A "two-day" meeting at which Insurance Commissioner Zack Cravey had invited industry officials to air complaints about a proposed insurance law fizzled after less than 90 minutes Tuesday.

Although some 55 insurance executives from all over the state appeared, barely half a dozen had anything to say.

After some of the officials said they wanted to see a complete draft of the proposed new law, and further suggested that it would be better to try to iron out changes during the General Assembly session, the meeting broke up.

Cravey never appeared.

Through Small Loans Commissioner Ralph Cadle, Cravey sent word that he was out of town but would join them on the second day of the meeting—which will not take place now.

A complete revision of insurance laws was submitted to the 1959 Legislature after a professional committee had worked on it for a year. But largely at industry objection, the bill was assigned to a special committee for further study.

Rep. Howell Hollis of Muscogee, chairman of the committee, told The Constitution that Cravey had not discussed the proposed Tuesday meeting with him.

GOING TO CALL

"I intended to call him to ask what the purpose of the meeting was," Hollis declared.

"I didn't learn about it 'til Friday night, and he was already out of town by then," he added.

Asked whether the same group of insurance people had not already had an opportunity to discuss the code revision with the committee, Hollis explained that all interested parties had twice been invited to suggest changes.

The insurance men also were sold copies of revisions approved by the committee, Hollis said.

BILL OFF TO PRINTERS

The committee has completed its work, and the bill is on its way to the printers, Hollis added.

Cadle told the insurance representatives it would be "ill for us to believe we could get any changes in the code at this time" but that "we will have another shot at it" before the Legislature meets.

Cadle said Cravey "wants a bill but one that everyone is happy with." Cadle added it was "easier to kill a bill than pass one."

SUGGESTS A DELAY

C. B. FunderBurk, president of Cotton States Life Insurance Co., said he thought the group would be "wasting our time" to discuss the bill now because the committee was through with it. He suggested waiting for a complete draft of the bill and then taking proposed changes to the General Assembly.

After others endorsed FunderBurk's position, Cadle said that perhaps the meeting was "premature."

"If you think any good can be obtained from any later meeting, if you'll drop a letter to Mr. Cravey or myself, we'll call another meeting," Cadle concluded.

Bolivia Clash Kills 2

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Three persons Tuesday were reported killed and an undetermined number wounded in weekend fights between rival bands of peasant militiamen near Cochabamba, 150 miles southeast of LaPaz.

Rep. Pilcher In Viet Nam For Aid Probe

SAIGON (UPI)—A U.S. House foreign affairs subcommittee arrived Tuesday to begin an intensive investigation of the U.S. economic and military assistance program for south Viet Nam.

During the next two and a half days the subcommittee is scheduled for rapid briefings and inspection trips. Rep. Pilcher (D-Ga) said the subcommittee will make its report in Washington.

The subcommittee also includes Reps. Church (R-Ill), Judd (R-Minn), McDowell (D-Del) and Curtis (R-Mass).

FASHIONS TO BE SHOWN ON "STAIRWAY"
Fay Talerico in Black, Betty McNeel in Satin Separates

Models to Mount Ladders at Show

"Stairway to Heaven," an unusual showing of festive fashions, will be the highlight of the fourth annual Heavenly Party sponsored by the Altar Society of the Cathedral of Christ the King Saturday, Nov. 7, at the Dinkler Plaza Hotel.

Always one of the season's most gala evenings, plans include dinner and dancing with guests assembling at 6:30 p.m. The fashion show, directed and commentated by Sol Kent of Rich's, will present late day and evening wear in an ethereal setting marked with twinkling chandeliers. Climbing ladders fashioned of white velvet sparkled with rhinestones and sequins, models will ascend and descend in the motion of a giant pinwheel.

KALEIDOSCOPE EFFECT

As the fashions revolve, a kaleidoscope effect will go through three color families beginning with the very pale such as the skirt and blouse of dry sauterne. The skirt is a whoosh of fullness in silk satin and is joined to a slightly scooped necked blouse with a cummerbund of white satin.

From the pale, the fashions climb to amber, topaz, gold and brown then into black with black getting warmer and warmer into red which then glows down to pink.

All of the fashions will portray the skirt silhouette of the season which is very full in fact or in simulation. Typical of the simulated full is the black dress of heavy ribbed silk imported from Italy. From a long torso bodice with simple squared neckline the skirt balloons into great poufs at the hips and hem. Skirt interest such as this will prevail throughout the showing.

NEW FACE

A new face for evening fashion will evolve with the evening as glamour returns leaving the pale, pallid look. The makeup will feature mouths colored very red, eyes shadowed and lined in iridescent blues, turquoises and shock colors. The look will be one of utter femininity.

Chairman of the event is Mrs. Glen Harlan with Mrs. Harry Kahle serving as co-chairman. Reservations may be made with Mrs. H. A. Kane, 2366 Wellwood Dr., NW.

Posing for Art Students, A Clown Does Not Laugh

By YOLANDE GWIN

On a walkie-talkie tour through the halls of the Atlanta Art Institute, a little girl was spied peeping into a studio.

"Come, mama, and look, the circus is here. There's a clown in this room!"

And the little girl was right, in a way. There was a clown sitting there in a chair. And if you ever saw a mournful looking figure it was that character. The old "laugh, clown, laugh" line would have been completely lost on this man.

There he sat, a typical gloomy gus, never moving, never smiling, never saying anything. And scattered all around were some two dozen or more art students trying to capture the clown's mood on canvas.

And without knowing it, we had stumbled in on a class of third-year painters. Ben Shute, head of fine arts department signaled to be quiet—genius at work so to speak—and then he went on around among the painters peering over their shoulders, kibitzer style, only its called "studio method painting" as they painted away.

Over on one side there was Mrs. Hobart Whitney who was giving her clown some finishing touches, and there was Walter Greer, formerly from Greenville, S.C., who was standing back giving his painting the one-eye scrutinizing treatment. He seemed pleased, too. Wayne Hodges and Pat Harrington decided to take a break about that time and sat over in the corner. As they did, the clown came to life and got up and stretched.

"Are you tired?" he was asked.

"Well, a little, you see I have to hold the one pose for about 20 minutes before we have the break."

The clown is a good-looking young chap 19 years old. He has been the clown model for about three weeks. He is an excellent clown (according to Ben Shute who says he seems to be happy being unhappy) and his costume is splendid. He wears a bushy wig (a real one) an old beat-up hat, chews on an old cigar and wears startling make-up.

And who is this clown? A young part-time art student named Mac Chaplin, who unlike members of the feminine sex, is far better looking without his makeup.

In a few minutes the clown resumed his pose and brushes again stroked canvas.

Festival To Demonstrate Cooking of Exotic Foods

The sixth annual Fall Festival for Folks Who Work will be held on Thursday and Friday, Nov. 5 and 6, at 7:30 p.m., at the Atlanta Biltmore Hotel.

Conducted by Miss Elizabeth Parker, well-known food expert and director of the homemaking department of Georgia Power Co., the Thursday evening event will feature "Foods With a Foreign Flavor"; the Friday program, "Mostly for Men," honors the many men who attend this annual event, and will feature foods which men favor.

In addition to the novel presentation of short cuts in cooking, electric cookery, and fabulous recipes, Fall Festival participants will see 20 interesting booth exhibits of homemaking devices and will sample tasty foods.

During 1959 the Pilot Club gave 20 campships to the Salvation Army Girls Club at Bellwood Community Center, bought considerable equipment for the Little Red Schoolhouse, a school for special children, maintained a monthly project at Haven Home, and through its educational fund has afforded several young women an opportunity to continue their education.

In inviting the public to its Fall Festival, Pilot Club members feel that an evening of enjoyment and education will await all who attend the festival. A donation of 50 cents entitles one to admission at the door, or tickets may be obtained from members of the club.

Atlanta Party To Board Yacht for Jacksonville

A weekend house party with wonderful possibilities will get under way tomorrow when Mr. and Mrs. Baxter Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Smith, Mr. and Mrs. William Gunter, Mrs. Hugh Nunnally and Herbert Bondurant leave by train for Sea Island.

There they will board "After Hours," the 56-foot yacht belonging to Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Sims, which has been tendered, complete with crew, to the Smiths for the weekend. The party will sail down the inland waterway to Jacksonville and dock within hailing distance of the football stadium where Georgia will meet the University of Florida on Saturday. The yacht will tie up alongside the Emory Cocke boat, and the house party will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cocke for luncheon before the game. On Friday evening they will dine at the River Club atop Jacksonville's new Prudential Life Insurance Company building.

Saturday evening the entire party will be guests for the after-game dance to be held at the Timuquana Country Club. The Atlantans will return home on Monday.

MRS. DONALD M. METZGER leaves for New York by jet on Saturday. There she will meet Mr. Metzger, who is now in Virginia on business, for a week of theater-going and shopping. They will be guests at the Plaza.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES REILLY and Mr. and Mrs. Ward Reilly have returned to Chattanooga after spending the weekend with Mrs. James Reilly's parents, the J. P. Garlingtons of 28th street, and attending the Tech-Duke game.

MRS. WESLEY MORAN JR. returns today from New York where she and her mother, Mrs. Ogden Geilfuss, have been guests for a week at the Essex House. Mrs. Geilfuss remained in New York and Mr. Geilfuss will join her there today for a few days' stay. En route home they will stop in Washington, D.C., for a brief visit.

MRS. WIMBERLY POOLE and her sister, Mrs. Guy Burns, drove down from Charlotte yesterday to be guests for the rest of the week of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Beattie on E. Pine Valley road. Mrs. Poole has been visiting her sister in Charlotte.

MRS. CHESTER E. MARTIN has issued invitations for a morning coffee tomorrow at her home on Blackland road in honor of Mrs. Kendall Bryan and Miss Grace Maxwell.

Mrs. Bryan, who has served for the past nine years as regional director of the Girls Scouts, U.S.A., is leaving soon to accept a position in the public relations department of Girl Scouts, New York City. Miss Maxwell will assume the position of regional director.

Mrs. Martin will be assisted in entertaining by Miss Zita Fallon, Mrs. Alden Eddy, Mrs. M. B. Satterfield, and Mrs. C. V. Minor. Fifty friends have been invited to meet Mrs. Bryan and Miss Maxwell.

AN IMPORTANT VISITOR here the first of the week was Mrs. Joseph Campbell of Denver, national president of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, who came to see members of the Atlanta Alumnae Assn., headed by Mrs. Chapman Turner, members of the Epsilon Epsilon chapter at Emory, and of the Delta Upsilon chapter at the University of Georgia. Mrs. Campbell was the house guest of Mrs. Charles Watt on Narmore drive.

Following her arrival on Sunday, she was honor guest at a small dinner party at the Ansley Golf Club, after which Mrs. Kells Boland entertained at dessert and coffee, inviting the alumnae members to meet the visitor.

Mrs. Campbell spent Monday in Athens as the guest of the University of Georgia chapter, and on Tuesday she was honor guest at a luncheon given by the Emory chapter at the Emory Panhellenic House. Invited to meet her were members of the chapter's advisory board, including Mrs. Robert E. Wells, Mrs. Kells Boland, Mrs. Robert O'Brien, Mrs. William Handlan, Miss Delores Fornara, Mrs. Rufus Chambers, Mrs. Joe E. Anderson, Mrs. Charles Siler and Mrs. Ben M. Allen.

The luncheon was followed by a tea given by the Kappa Kappa Gammas at Emory.

MRS. ALEXANDRA SERAPH of Redondo Beach, Calif., is here for a visit to her daughter, Mrs. A. L. Sikking, and Mr. Sikking at their W. Wesley road home.

MRS. CHAPPELL WHITE, a bride of recent date, continues to be feted at informal parties welcoming her to Atlanta. Tomorrow Mrs. Charles Hartshorne and Mrs. Richard Hocking will entertain at tea at the former's home on Ridgewood drive.

The calling hours are from four to six o'clock. Mrs. Bradford D. Ansley and Mrs. James A. Gould will preside at the tea table.

SANDRA TEEM, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Teem Jr., has been initiated into the Prince of Wales Riding Club at Stephens College where she is a student.

CONGRATULATIONS — To Saralyn Bone for being elected president of the Women's Glee Club at the University of Georgia where she is an Alpha Chi Omega and serves as treasurer of the Honorary Angel's Flight Corps.

BAND SPONSOR—Ann Elizabeth Newcomer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Newcomer, has been chosen as sponsor of the Highlander Marching Band of Maryville College where she is a senior majoring in Christian education. The band is a 51-piece organization and one of the few college bands in the United States to use authentic Highlander regalia. Ann Elizabeth is a member of the student council, is president of the women's student government association, and is a member of the YWCA cabinet at Maryville.

Emory Pledge Classes Name New Officers

When the Emory sororities announced their pledge class officers, the Atlanta area claimed many among the number. Alpha Chi Omega had Martha Leila Medford as president; Susan Spaeder as vice president; Judith Ann Thomas as secretary, and Ann Ruggles Langmuir as representative and vice president of Junior Panhellenic.

Alpha Delta Pi lists Josephine Hamilton Weekes and Martha Jane Smith as Junior Panhellenic representatives, and Chi Omega lists Leanda Stubbs as vice president and Regina Leona Miller as Junior Panhellenic representative.

Delta Gamma's representative to Junior Panhellenic is Jeannith Ellen Littell. Kappa Alpha Theta's president is Molly Bonner Baker and secretary is Patricia Lynn Cherry.

Kappa Delta pledges have Gloria Valine Carney as their president; Lizabeth Muriel Lewis as vice president; Lucy Aldridge and Julia Johnson as Junior Panhellenic representatives.

Kappa Kappa Gamma pledges chose Julie Marie Paquette as their vice president, and Mary-Morris Mason Miller as Junior Panhellenic representative.

PIN-WORMS MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do ... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

Miss Weston To Marry Mr. Lark

Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Weston of Fort Gaines announce the engagement of their daughter, Jean, to William Hodnett Lark Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lark Sr. of Dawson.

The couple has not yet decided on a date for their wedding, which will be announced later.

Miss Weston received her B.S. degree from GSCW in June.

Her fiance attended Georgia Southwestern College and has had a tour of duty in the Army. Since returning from his Army service he has been associated with his father in the operation of Lark's Store in Dawson.

Reception To Honor Musicians

A reception has been planned for Wednesday evening honoring members of the Lucerne Festival Strings musicians following their performance at 8:15 at the Glenn Memorial Auditorium.

Hosts will be the Austrian Consul Robert Bunzl and Mrs. Bunzl, and the Swiss Consul Michael Hack and Mrs. Hack, who will entertain at the Bunzl home on Wieuca road.

Civil War Centennial Should Increase Interest in the Past

Maybe I was marked by having grown up in a time when every school child "committed to memory," as we used to say, the works of Father Abram J. Ryan, militant little "Poet Priest of the South." But I've never been one to favor flapping the Confederate flag about in a loose and frivolous fashion.

Father Ryan, you recall, wrote a fine, ringing tribute to "The Conquered Banner," in which he called it a "holy" flag and urged over and over:

"Furl it, fold it, let it rest."

All of us who grew up in Mobile County, Alabama, memorized "The Conquered Banner" and "Marse Robert Is Asleep" before we got around to Mother Goose. As a result of this early influence I've never been able to stick imitation, made-in-Brooklyn Confederate flags about in a gay and playful fashion and I flatly refused to buy my son a phony gray campaign hat when souvenir stands and dime stores broke out in a rash of cheap and sleazy ersatz Civil Wariana some years ago. Sour and picayunish it may be but I couldn't get over the notion that bandying flag and uniform about wasn't quite respectful.

That's why I was so glad to hear Dr. Bell Irwin Wiley say the other day that the commission charged with commemorative plans for the Civil War centennial is making every effort to avoid commercial gimmicks and gimcracks. The Emory University history professor and Civil War expert said the commission hopes to keep the commemoration dignified, using the occasion as an opportunity to point up both the sacrifice and the greatness of the people on both sides.

"The Civil War was a time of supreme greatness for both the North and the South," Dr. Wiley said.

He said in the "present death scramble for the final weapon of destructive warfare" he draws hope from remembering the capacity for greatness demonstrated by the American people in the bitter war which claimed more lives than all other wars combined. He expressed the hope that instead of reviving or continuing old feuds or precipitating a welter of silly flag-waving shenanigans the centennial celebration will cause an upsurge of real interest in the past, and appreciation of unknown heroes on both sides.

He hopes it will be a time when Americans will be mindful of such unsung heroines as Mrs. Joseph Waters of Floyd County, Georgia, who sent nine of 10 sons to the Confederate Army, or the doughty country woman who paused in the midst of her fight against hunger and cold to write her soldier husband: "Don't disfurnish yourself on my account and don't be uneasy about us at home."

He mentioned a Georgia sergeant who took over his unit when the only officer present "played off sick" and led it into battle with great heroism. He spoke of the Yankee soldier who fell mortally wounded on the battlefield and with his last breath whispered, "Colonel, is the day ours? Then I am willing to die."

And then Dr. Wiley made a renewed study of the war sound like a pleasurable enterprise by mentioning the humor he found in the letters of so many soldiers. I liked William R. Stilwell, the Georgia soldier who joshed his wife, Mary, about how he might let it slip his mind that he was married and find him another girl.

"If I do," he teased her, "forgive me as I'm so fergitful."

"It is a great pleasure for me to recommend Massey College to everyone who is interested in bettering themselves and to find their place in the future.
"My Professional Secretarial Course which I completed on June 26 of this year has made a very deep impression on me and I can truthfully say that I enjoyed each and every night that I attended.
"My employer said, after being here only an hour, that I would stay in this position only a short time since I came to them so highly recommended and since my business, personal and Massey College records were so commendable.
"I can thank Massey College for the proper training for a position that has a wonderful future."

LET'S GO MARKETING

Citrus Fruits, Vegetables Take Market Spotlight

By BARBARA SOMERVILLE
Constitution Food Editor

Citrus fruit season is really here again. Grapefruit supplies are abundant and quality is good. Your most economical buy in oranges is the five-pound bag, according to Mrs. Betty Alexander, Extension Consumer Information Specialist.

Bananas are a better buy this week, she reports, and apples are still available in many varieties. Emperor grapes are in good supply and winter pears are coming into the markets now. Cranberries are also available at low prices.

Vegetables are in abundance with potatoes, onions and greens still at budget levels. Tomatoes from California are as near to home-grown quality as you can find. Pole and snap beans are in short supply, however, as weather conditions have been against this crop. Lettuce prices will be reasonable this week but may increase next week—quality is improved.

The budget-minded shopper will find high food values, good eating and economy prices in fryers, hens and all sizes of eggs. At present prices, there is little difference between various egg sizes on the price-per-pound basis. Turkey prices are the same as last week—an ample supply is expected for Thanksgiving.

Pork is still at the top of the food news in red meats. Thrifty shoppers will be pleased with the price and the versatility of pork—roasts, chops, spareribs, steaks, casseroles. Hams and sausage are good buys, too.

Look for "specials" on beef in the stores this week. A major part of the supply continues to be the high-quality beef that is especially good for roasts and steak.

Mother Wants Her To Go To College

By DOROTHY RICKER

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

I am 17 and I am going steady with a boy I have known for years. He is not very happy at home so he may go into the service before he graduates, depending on how things go at his home.

We've talked about marriage and he wants me to marry him after we (or at least I) graduate in June of next year. My problem is my mother. Her one desire is for me to go to college and, above all, to be independent and self-supoprting.

If I were to marry without going to college it would break her heart. I really want to go myself but my boyfriend doesn't want a long engagement. What shall I do—marry and go to college while my husband is in the service? Give him up and simply go to school?

Or, give up any thought of going to college and marry the boy? I have loved him since we were in grade school. Do you think I am trying to get out of marrying him or am I considering my mother's wishes before my own?

After reading your letter several times I am not convinced that your mother is your real problem. A mother who wants her daughter to have a good education hardly can be classed as a "problem" mother—especially since you say that you want to go to college. I believe your real problem is that you and your boy friend are confused and unsure of yourselves.

First of all, he should finish school. His chances of doing well in the service, and in civilian life later on, will be better if he has a high school diploma. If you are sincere about wanting to go to college, that is what you should do—unhampered by marriage. I believe if you pass up this opportunity you will regret it the rest of your life.

If you do enroll in a college do it with the determination to graduate with a diploma that will equip you to be "independent and self-supporting" as Mom says. In other words, study to be a nurse, teacher, a lab technician or for some-worthwhile occupation which pays a good salary.

Even when you marry, this kind of occupation could be very helpful to you. So, you see, my advice is to let your boy friend do his time in the service and for you to go on with your education, THEN see if marriage is still what you both want.

LEGAL NOTICE

INVITATION FOR BIDS

Sealed proposals for leasing of air rights of the Western & Atlantic Railroad in the City of Atlanta, Fulton County, Georgia, as described below, are invited from responsible lessees and will be received by Matt L. McWhorter, Chairman of the Georgia Public Service Commission, Room 168, 244 Washington Street, S.W., Atlanta 3, Georgia, before 10:00 a.m., December 29, 1959, and bids will be opened in the Governor's office at 10:00 a.m., December 29, 1959.

Bids are invited as to air rights of the Western & Atlantic Railroad over three specific tracts located between Spring Street and Magnolia Street, all of which appear on a plat, the blue prints of which are filed in the office of the Chairman of the Public Service Commission and in the office of the Secretary of State, and are recorded in the latter's office. Bidders are expected to give consideration to a provision that rentals will be adjusted periodically to meet changing economic conditions.

Bids should be received for a lease or leases for not more than 75 years from the date the lease or leases become operative, and subject to the lease or leases now existing between the State of Georgia and the present lessee, the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company, which expire in 1969. Bids are invited under the Acts of the General Assembly of Georgia authorizing the Western and Atlantic Railroad Commission to lease said air rights, which Acts were approved February 17, 1950 (Acts 1950, page 408) and on December 22, 1953 (Acts 1953, page 410).

The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive any formalities in bidding. Bids may be received for said property or air rights in their entirety or as a part.

This twenty-seventh day of October, 1959.

THE WESTERN & ATLANTIC RAILROAD COMMISSION
By MATT L. McWHORTER,
Chairman of the Georgia Public Service Commission and Secretary of The Western & Atlantic Railroad Commission.

Scientists Blame 'Cobwebs from Space' On Balloon Spiders, Capture a Culprit

Constitution State News Service

ATHENS—"Cobwebs" reported floating down from the skies over the state are the result of an airborne invasion of "ballooning spiders," three University of Georgia professors said Tuesday.

And they've captured one of the invaders—a tiny gray spider that floated to earth with hundreds of others at the Athens airport Tuesday.

The spider-webs in the sky also were reported falling Tuesday in Rome, Savannah and Atlanta. Earlier the stuff floated down on Crawfordville, Washington, Ga.; Sharon and Crawford.

FALL ON CAMPUS

In Athens, Dr. Robert P. Hunter, William D. Jacobs and George E. Philbrook reported the ballooning spiders and their webs falling over the University of Georgia campus and the Athens airport.

The professors said they gathered some of the web from a radio antenna at the airport and then captured a spider they first spotted floating down from 25 feet in the air, wrapped in some more of the film.

Jacobs and Philbrook of the university's chemistry department rushed their find back to the university where Hunter of the entomology department studied it.

Hunter reported that the insect was commonly known as a "ballooning spider" that gets into the tops of trees, spins out a web as much as 50 feet long and then, using the web as a "parachute," sails away with the wind.

Hunter said this type spider has been caught as high as 10,000 feet in the air by insect collectors using planes.

A single strand usually floats ahead of the spider, as much as 30 or 40 feet long. When the spider lands, the strand balls up and then it looks like "an army of spiders" has passed through, he said. But each strand usually carries only one spider.

In Atlanta, John Crawford, sales manager of an auto firm on Stewart avenue, SW, reported that webby stuff started collecting early Tuesday on the firm's 210-foot television tower, streaming out to windward and easily seen against the bright blue sky.

One of the workers at the motor company climbed part way to the tower to catch some of the "angel hair."

VANISHES ON TOUCH

"It just disappears when you touch it," he reported. "But it does leave your hands sticky—sort of cotton candy stuff."

When the first webs-from-the-sky were reported a Warner Robins Air Base chemist said it was probably silver halide used to seed clouds to make rain.

But the stuff fell in the middle of a rainly spell when nobody had any reason to want rain.

A chemist at Savannah reported Tuesday that he was unable to tell what the webby stuff was made of. He said he saw no spiders.

Balloon Spiders No Threat To Anyone, Scientists Say

Balloon spiders that have dropped out of the skies on Georgia constitute no danger to human beings or animals, entomologists said Tuesday.

Dr. J. J. Paul of the University of Georgia said the tiny arachnids feed on small insects and plants and live in plants or on trees. The biggest balloon spider he's seen was less than an eighth of an inch in diameter, Dr. Paul said.

He theorized that the balloon spiders "heavenly webbing" has been reported in such great abundance because it's been an exceedingly good year for spiders.

He said just-right temperatures and plenty of food may have resulted in an abundance of airborne spiders.

Dr. H. B. Reed, Shorter College biologists, said at Rome that it is difficult to identify exactly the so-called balloon spider because several kinds of spiders transport themselves in "balloon" fashion.

He said balloon spiders habe been known to ride the winds for hundreds of miles in their gossamer strands.

Dr. Reed said the spiders usually come to earth on clear, calm autumn days.

School Jobs, Pay Cut to Ease Debt

The Union County Board of Education Tuesday fired school personnel, slashed salaries and cut out two school bus runs in an effort to get the county school system out of debt.

The school system presently is mired $20,000 in debt and slipping deeper in the red at the rate of $5,000 a month.

As the board, meeting at Blairsville, ordered a drawing tight of the purse strings, it also considered replacing the high school gymnasium floor at a cost of $3,000.

To stop the rising deficit, the five members of the board:

1. Cut their own pay in half. Each member will now receive $5 per monthly meeting instead of $10.

2. Agreed to eliminate two bus runs.

3. Dropped county support of two music teachers with a total savings of $175 a month.

4. Cut Supt. Pat E. Helton's pay $25 a month, his secretary $25 a month, and visiting teachers pay by $12.50 a month.

5. Discharged a school librarian, a secretary and all five school janitors.

6. Decided to negotiate a short-term bank loan, not to exceed $12,000.

7. And set up a committee to decide which debts would be paid off first.

8. Voted to hire a mechanic and set up the system's own garage for school bus maintenance.

Disarming A Must, Says Briton

"We must disarm eventually for the good of mankind," a retired British general and former commander in chief of Allied forces in NATO said here Tuesday.

But he cautioned that gestures of trust by one side won't influence the other in the current East-West cold war.

The general is Sir Robert Mansergh. He is in Atlanta to promote a movie, "Yesterday's Enemy," which opens Thursday at the Paramount.

Sir Robert was military leader in NATO from 1953 to 1956. He said the key to ultimate disarmament is inspection by each side.

Sir Robert praised the role NATO has played in its 10-year existence. It still has a job to do, he said.

The movie concerns the fighting in Burma in the early days of World War II. Sir Robert is a veteran of the early fighting there.

Thomas Mines, Retired Prison Guard, Is Dead

Thomas M. Mines, 93-year-old retired farmer and prison camp guard, died Tuesday in a private hospital. His home was at 1248 Oakfield Dr., SW.

He had been bedridden since last July, relatives said. He was hospitalized 10 days ago.

Mr. Mines was born in Green County a year after the War Between the States ended. He was a farmer during the Reconstruction era, moving to Atlanta in the early 1900s, where he worked as a Fulton County prison camp guard until his retirement in the 1930s.

Funeral services will be at 3 p.m. Wednesday at Trinity Chapel. The Rev. J. G. Burgess will officiate. Burial will be in Crest Lawn Cemetery.

Survivors include a son, J. F. Mines, Atlanta; two daughters, Mrs. Naomi Williams, Atlanta, and Mrs. Ellen Barr, Las Vegas, Nev., and a brother, Lon Mines, Lexington, Ga.

Wife Killing Trial

Testimony was completed Tuesday in the second trial of a farmer charged with the shotgun murder of his wife. Judge Maylon B. Clinkscales charged the Bartow Superior Court jury and then had it locked up for the night. The state charged Ernest McDaniel, a 56-year-old farmer, shot his wife Lula Bell McDaniel in a field Sept. 24. McDaniel contended she was killed accidentally when a dog knocked over the shotgun which was leaning against a fence and caused it to fire. The farmer's first trial ended in a mistrial Oct. 7 when a jury deliberated about 10 hours and reported it was unable to reach a verdict.

2 State Dams Urged

The U.S. Corps of Engineers Tuesday recommended to the federal government construction of two new dams on the Savannah River at a cost of $79,682,000. Sites of the proposed dams are in the vicinity of Carter's Island, about 11 miles east of Elberton, and Goat Island, about 15 miles southeast of Elberton.

Mickey LOGUE

College Corner

Ninety years ago this week Rutgers pinned Princeton, 6-4, in the first college football match—then didn't beat the Tigers again for 79 seasons.

Until LSU and Auburn furnished blankings back-to-back, Florida had not been shut out twice in succession since 1945. However, the Gators had chances to win both games.

Logue

Speaking of streaks, Tennessee's Bowden Wyatt could become the game's undisputed upset king Saturday by stopping national champion LSU's winning express at 19 games. The Vols already have cut Auburn's unbeaten string at 24.

Although its home-coming at Knoxville and Paul Dietzel's men may be mentally ripe for a letdown after the great effort expended against Ole Miss, this Corner is sticking with Billy Cannon and company on the scoreboard.

When Cannon blasted off for 89 yards, a touchdown and victory, he came so close to the enemy bench that coach Johnny Vaught could almost have touched him. Several Rebels on the sideline admitted an impulse to try to stop Cannon.

"I guess a lot of us had it," said tackle Bobby Owens. "But we knew better. That was a heck of a note, wasn't it?"

"I thought we had him down three or four times," Vaught recalled. "We had good position on him. It was the damnedest thing I've ever seen. That was a magnificent run the kid made."

Wyatt was among the many radio listeners who nearly leaped from their chairs when Cannon rambled to glory. After the Chattanooga game, he had warned the Vols, "Some team with a fast safetyman is going to wreck us if we don't start getting the ball up in the air so our linemen can get down field."

The Rebs were down field—they just couldn't get Cannon to go down. The run enhanced Cannon's chances of becoming the first Southeastern Conference player to win the Heisman Trophy since Georgia's Frank Sinkwich did in 1942.

—Moss Says He Inherited the Team

New head coach Perry Moss feels he is drawing unjust criticism and "hanging" from Florida State supporters.

"I'm concerned with how we do this year," Moss explained, "but I'll be darned if I can see how it can be laid to me one way or the other. This isn't what you could call my team.

"Sure, I'm proud to be part of it, but it was a team I inherited, not one of my choosing. It was here prior to me," Moss added.

Kentucky's Blanton Collier credits assistants Ermal Allen and Bob Cummings with helping Calvin Bird sprint 55 yards for a touchdown against Miami. "Allen and Cummings changed our punt-return patterns last week in practices," Collier said.

A Louisville gazette reports that the Lexington campus is buzzing over a starting Kentucky gridder who was thwarted in an alleged attempt to swipe examination papers. University officials have not disclosed his name.

Bear Bryant likes the way sophomore halfback Billy Richardson plays football. "Billy is the best back we've got now," Bryant said. "I don't think it's even close."

The Fighting Irish will observe the 50th anniversary of "The Notre Dame Victory March" during Saturday's halftime ceremonies at South Bend. However, the "Ramblin' Reck from Georgia Tech" figures to hold its own, musically and physically.

None of the nation's 10 best passing teams are in the top 20. But three of the best rushing teams are in the top 10.

—A Gator Homecoming for Bulldogs

The touchdown Georgian Bill Mathis scored against Rice gave him 108 points, the third most ever tallied by a Clemson back. He moved ahead of Joel Wells and Goat McMillan.

Despite the Air Force's reputation for being daring, the Falcons went for the tying one point against Army instead of the go-ahead two.

Auburn is grooming sophomore quarterback Bobby Hunt as a punt-grabber. Fumbled boots jeopardized Tiger victory chances against Tech and Florida.

Auburn backfield coach Buck Bradberry was telling how premed fullback Ed Dyas used his intelligence to become a better football player in every situation. Suddenly a sports writer broke in.

"How can a guy's brains help when he's busting into two or three 250-pounders in the line?" said the newsman. "Seems to me if he had any sense he'd ease the heck out of there."

"Dyas knows the harder you hit them the more likely you are to come out unmarked," Bradberry countered. "It's the dainty inside runners who get hurt. The bigger the opponent, the harder Dyas hits."

Georgia's nine south Georgians and eight Floridians will give Saturday's date with Florida a home-coming flavor for the Bulldogs, who'll be out to strengthen their grip on first place in the SEC.

Bobby Walden, the Big Toe from Cairo, will be put to the punting test by Florida's Bobby Joe Green.

Trademark of a champion: Tennessee scout Ken Donahue says its defensive-minded LSU's ability to make the "big play."

Sentiment Against Florida Coach Pops Up at Green Cove Springs

FSU Prexy Pans Moss' 'Hanging'

Special to The Constitution

TALLAHASSEE—Hanging in effigy of Coach Perry Moss by students on Monday night was described by Florida State President Dr. Robert Strozier Tuesday as "unkind, unfortunate and undeserved."

The students' action followed FSU's 42-0 loss to Georgia on Saturday—FSU's fourth reversal in seven games.

A dummy designated as Moss was hung under a blazing container at FSU's main entrance. Signs attached to the dummy included: "We want a coach," and, "Yankee go home."

Moss hails originally from Oklahoma.

The youthful Moss, who took over the helm from Maryland-bound Tom Nugent in February, was in Columbus, Ga., to speak to a football group Tuesday. He declined comment.

Tibbetts in Line for Offense And Overtime at Tech QB

Tech Starter Has Big Job

By PAUL ATKINSON

Look for quarterback Marvin Tibbetts to see more offensive duty for Georgia Tech Saturday at Notre Dame.

Marvin Tibbetts

That was the word Tuesday as the jackets polished their passing game for the high-scoring Irish.

"Marvin will start for us," said Coach Bobby Dodd deep in the spirited workout. "He'll share some of the offense with Walter Howard, maybe a little more than usual."

It's becoming increasingly evident that No. 1 offensive quarterback Fred Braselton won't be able to play at South Bend, and it's a bit of doubt for his availability for the Alabama game. However, Dodd fervently hopes that Braselton will face the Tide.

"A bruised muscle in the shoulder," is the official diagnosis of Braselton's injury. He can lift his right arm halfway up, but needs his left arm to ease the shoulder down without pain.

Both Tibbetts, who has specialized in defense, and Howard were shooting passes all over Rose Bowl Field. Tibbetts was whipping the football with authority, as was Howard.

Actually, Tech, in firing a double quarterback deal at the Irish, will be countering the Notre Dame plan. With the early injury to No. 1 quarterback George Izo, Irish coach Joe Kuharich was forced to go to reserve quarterback Don White, a 5-11, 200-pound senior from Haverhill, Mass.

White responded with a fine game against Navy Saturday, rallying the forces for an 11-point last quarter and a 25-22 victory. The running and field generalship of White impressed Coach Dodd and his aides from game films.

"We believe Izo is the better passer," Dodd explained. "But White is the better runner."

He continued his analysis of Southern to Shovel Crax to Oblivion

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Long-faced Southern Assn. officials will mournfully throw the last spade of dirt on the grave of the Atlanta Crackers in New Orleans Wednesday morning.

President-owner Earl Mann's last official chore of his unhappy Silver Anniversary year with minor league baseball's pennant-winningest club will be to turn Atlanta's franchise back to the league.

This simple act, shortly after the 10 a.m. start of the Southern Assn. meeting, will write "30" to 58 continuous years of play in the Class AA league by the storied Crackers, winners of 16 pennants.

Mann and vice-president Jasper (Jake) Donaldson, who headed the Crackers through the lush years when they served as the league's "meal ticket" at the turnstiles, will conduct the simple ceremony, bid sad farewells to long-time associates from eight other cities and catch an early afternoon Atlanta-bound plane.

The speculation is that Little Rock, which surrendered its franchise in the Southern to Shreveport a year ago, will be awarded the Atlanta-dropped franchise during the meeting. Ray Winder, general manager of the "other" Little Rock club for many years, will represent a group from his city and reportedly comes with solid financial backing in an effort to obtain the franchise.

League president Charlie Hurth, contacted in New Orleans, said, "The chief order of business will

Thompson's Tackles Improve with Age

Butts Praises Vet Center

By AL THOMY
Constitution Sports Writer

ATHENS—Devastating Daddy Dude Thompson, age 24-25-26 (pick one), made himself comfortable on the training table Tuesday as Sam Richwine taped his ankle.

"Hey, hurry with that tape," said Dude, "or I might get arthritis again."

Trainer Richwine and husky Georgia Bulldogs laughed with Daddy Dude. They wouldn't dare laugh at him.

Someone asked Dude his real age, "not his playing age."

"There has been quite a bit of comment on that," smiled the Georgia center. "Everyone here claims I'm ancient."

"Don't let him tell you he's 24," interrupted end Gorden Kelley. Again, teammates laughed.

"Truth of the matter is I'm 25 and I'll be 26 in May," continued Thompson. "And that's official."

Thompson of the Gainesville Thompsons is old only in a comparative way. At 25, he is dean of Georgia football players, so to speak. Teammates and coaches tease him now and then, but each and everyone respect Dude's ability and go-get-'em manner on the field.

Coach Wally Butts paid him a compliment earlier in the day.

"Actually there is little difference in our centers, Thompson and Phil Ashe. Right now Dude is starting because he has earned it. He always does the best he can and he is a tough and rough boy."

A second-unit man for the first four games, Dude moved up a notch prior to the Mississippi State battle, and as yet, no one has unseated him. He may not be the best center Georgia ever had, but few can match his fire and appetite for combat.

Dude, in return, pays tribute to teammates.

"I've been here since 1956 and this team has by far the best spirit of any Georgia team I have seen. We have had a pretty good season but there's one we want badly on Saturday."

Thompson is also level-headed.

"Florida is a tough team, that much we know, and it will take our best game to beat them. With everyone pulling together, I believe we can go ahead and win."

DON SOBERDASH
May Back the Line

The Gainesville senior, who has averaged 30 minutes of play in each game, said he would like to make his last year of college ball a successful one.

He came to Georgia in 1956 after a Navy hitch, played end on the freshman team, moved to center on the varsity and played behind Dave Lloyd in 1957. Injuries hampered him throughout the 1958 season.

Dude sits on ready, and as long as he hits the way he does, teammates really don't care if he's 24 or 26. A good tackle knows no age.

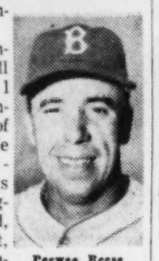
Wimbledon Mulls Open Tournament

Ole Miss-LSU for Sugar?
Reese Joins Ole Dizzy

From Press Dispatches

Wimbledon, the ivy-covered stronghold of world amateur lawn tennis, summoned its officials Tuesday and discussed a revolutionary idea—that of holding an open Wimbledon.

It appears that the 1960 championship, however will be an all-amateur deal. But in 1961 . . . well, that's another story.



Peewee Reese

Certainly Wimbledon will have to deal with Jack Kramer, promoter of pro tennis. He has under contract such stars as Frank Sedgman, Lew Hoad, Tony Trabert, Pancho Gonzales, Ken Rosewall and Pancho Segura, assuring that he'll have much to say about the planning of an open tournament.

Kramer, commenting on the possible change in format, said: "My pro tennis players are not going to be interested in playing tennis for fun. I haven't heard anything about money; the International Lawn Tennis Federation seems to be very reluctant to discuss it."

The ILTA must approve the change.

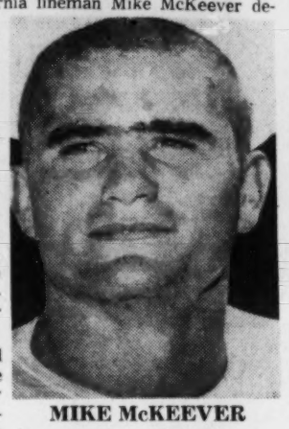
TROJANS APOLOGIZE TO CAL FOR 'McKEEVER INCIDENT'

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—The University of California Tuesday night charged that University of Southern California lineman Mike McKeever deliberately injured Cal halfback Steve Bates in Saturday's football game here.



MIKE McKEEVER
Under Critics' Fire

President Clark Kerr of the University and Chancellor Glenn T. Seaborg of the Berkeley campus issued the detailed statement over their signatures.

They said they made the charges after carefully viewing films of the game with President Norman Topping and Vice President Francis Tappan of USC.

At Los Angeles Tuesday night, Southern California apologized to California for the incident.

Topping promised:

"All necessary actions are being taken to assure avoidance of similar occurrences."

After the university's faculty athletic committee met Tuesday night, Topping said:

"This, as well as other incidents in the game, we feel could have ben avoided. To the extent that we are responsible, we apologize.

"We will insist that our team play good, hard, but clean football.

"The coaches are instructed to see that this policy is followed."

They will demand that the Big Five reaffirm its stand for clean play.

Bates suffered a shattered cheek bone and broken nose. His injuries are so serious doctors have not yet been able to operate.

Coach Pete Elliott said he was so shocked when he saw Bates that he cried.

Bates weighs 175; McKeever, a leading candidate for All-American, 218.

California's Kerr and Seaborg recalled other instances involving McKeever and named specifically the previous week's USC-Stanford game and last year's Cal-USC game. He was ousted for unnecessary roughness Saturday, but for another incident—not the Bates injury.

Text of the Kerr-Seaborg statement:

"Steve Bates was most seriously injured last Saturday. We visited him in the hospital immediately thereafter. We have viewed both the University of Southern California and the University of California at Berkeley films with great care in company with President Norman Topping and Vice President Francis Tappan (of USC).

"The pictures show that Steve Bates was lying on his back on the sideline. Two University of Southern California players were approaching him. One of them, and the closer one (Al Bansavage) stopped. The other, Mike McKeever, not only continued his forward momentum, but changed course toward Bates. He dived at Steve Bates with his elbow far extended, which hit Bates in the side of the face.

"It has been said that McKeever's vision was obscured. The pictures do not bear this out. It has been said that the damage was done by the weight of McKeever's body, and that the broken helmet would prove this. We have examined the helmet and shown it to President Topping and Vice President Tappan. The helmet is in no way broken. Moreover, the pictures show that McKeever's elbow smashed into the face of Bates. McKeever was later ejected from the game for another instance of unnecessary roughness of play.

"McKeever was ejected the week before from the Stanford game. Stanford officials have said that their pictures show an additional incident of roughness in their game for which McKeever was nat penalized. Also films of last year's University of California-Berkeley game with the University of Southern California show McKeever undertaking the same tactics against Joe Kapp as were used against Steve Bates. In that case, however, Kapp was lying face down on the turf and McKeever's elbow struck the back of Kapp's helmet.

"We regret very greatly the severe injury to Steve Bates which we can only conclude was completely unnecessary and uncalled for. We are sure that all sports lovers who see the pictures in still or slow motion will agree with us. We feel that amateur athletics deserves better than this from its participants.

"We united in reaffirming our unequivocal stand for clean recruitment and for clean play on the field. We intend to take whatever steps are necessary to maintain this policy.

"To this end we plan to request a meeting of the presidents of the Western Athletic Assn. of Western Universities to show the films on this incident and on related incidents involving McKeever. And we also intend to make the films and still pictures from the films publicly available."

Syracuse 1st in Yards And Points

NEW YORK (AP)—Two powerful offenses will collide this Saturday when Syracuse faces Penn State in the battle of the East featuring undefeated, high ranking teams.

Syracuse, which also boasts a rock-ribbed defense, tops the nation's major college elevens in total offense (432.3 yards a game) and scoring (36.2 points a game), according to statistics released Tuesday by the NCAA's service bureau.

Penn State is seventh in total offense (349.0) and ninth in scoring (26.3).

Unseamly Guard

Dartmouth Had Hole in Line, But Yale Lost Anyway

NEW YORK (AP)—Dartmouth was caught with its pants torn against Yale Saturday, Dartmouth Coach Bob Blackman disclosed Monday.

It could have been costly but the Indians won the football game 12-8, anyway, ripping Yale's unbeaten, untied, unscored on record.

The tattered trousers led to a player shortage on the field for Dartmouth. Yale ran two plays while the Indians only had 10 men on the field. Then the red-faced Dartmouth coaches discovered their error.

Here's what Blackman told the Metropolitan Football Writers Assn. about the incident:

"We had pulled our first team and Henry Gerkin, a guard, came out with the front of his pants all ripped away. They couldn't be fixed on the field so he went into the dressing room to get another pair. None of the coaches knew it.

"When our second unit wasn't stopping anything, we put the first team back in, but Gerkin wasn't with them.

"Luckily Yale ran both plays away from Gerkin's position until someone discovered we had no guard.

"I was kind of burned up at myself for having such poor organization on the bench—the only thing I'm ever critical of in other coaches."

GEORGIA TECH

BEN FERGUSON, 5-11, 180, Northside of Atlanta—Was regular on Tigers' 1957 State AAA titlists as combination halfback-fullback . . . Played much of '58 season at quarterback, can throw long or short and has improved recently in ball handling . . . Dangerous runner, sparked 33-12 win over Clemson freshmen.

JIMMY BARBER, 5-10, 175, Waycross—Shifted to quarterback at Tech after other signal-callers didn't show . . . Good on option play, was named to Constitution-Journal Class AA all-state team as halfback . . . Also was fine baseballer, played in Constitution's North-South baseball game . . . Quick, hits hard on defense.

GEORGIA

DON BLACKBURN, 6-0, 180, Campbell Smyrna—Named on both Associated Press and Constitution-Journal Class AAA all-state teams . . . Fine defender, excellent runner on option-keeper play . . . Finest game of career was in leading 15-7 win over Marietta for 1958 4-AAA West title . . . Fair passer.

JAKE SAYE, 5-11, 170, Rutledge—Selected to Constitution-Journal Class B all-state team . . . Fine ball handler and adequate defender . . . Led Morgan County to '58 Class B title . . . Cousin Snooks played in Thanksgiving Game for Georgia Tech freshmen, currently a student assistant.

THOMAS (BOOT) HUNT, 6-1, 180, Perry—Excellent athlete, he paced Class B basketball championship; also named to Constitution-Journal Class B all-state football team as quarterback . . . Sturdy on offense and defense, he'll get the job done though not in spectacular fashion.

FATE LEEBERN, 5-8, 165, Columbus—Comes as excellent passer from Columbus High, helped lead Columbus to South Georgia AAA title in 1957 . . . Has brother, Don, on Georgia varsity.

JOHN WRIGHT, 5-11, 176, Tampa, Fla.—Does everything the right way . . . He's a good passer, good defender and good rusher . . . Will see service.—ATKINSON.

the Irish. "They like to outscore you. I look for the Irish to be the team with the most offense we'll face this season, and I foresee the highest-scoring game we've had this year.

"In that line of theirs, they have a real fine boy in guard Ken Adamson, who was at Marist here. He's a good leader (captain of the team), fine blocker and a fine defender.

"And this end (Monty) Stickles reminds me a lot of Leon Hart, Notre Dame's great end of sometime back. I coached Leon in the College All-Star Game, and in size Stickles (6-4, 225) is a lot like him. Of course, Stickles is really a good field goal kicker also. That one he beat Navy with went over 40 yards.

"No doubt about it, the Irish are going to be tough."

Irish Move Up Soph to Full

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Dick Naab, sophomore from Rockford, Ill., ran as No. 1 fullback in Tuesday's Notre Dame football workout.

Naab was promoted because of the many injuries at the position.

The Irish drilled mainly on offense, warned by Joe Kuharich that invading Georgia Tech will prove a rugged defensive opponent Saturday.

"Nobody has scored much on them, and they don't make mistakes," Kuharich said of the Yellow Jackets.

Rebels Win Title

The Rebels finished undefeated champions of the Forest Park City Football League for 110-pounders Tuesday by beating the Green Hornets, 29-0. The Rebs' over-all record was 5-0.

Lothridge, James Climbing in 4-AA

Gainesville quarterback Billy Lothridge continued his long climb up the 4-AA scoring ladder last weekend, while leader Westminster halfback Peyton Robinson faltered for the second straight week.

Robinson was shutout by Headland and held firm at No. 1 with 97 points on 16 touchdowns and one extra point. Lothridge, though his Red Elephants lost, 18-13, to Marietta, scored seven points and has nine TDs, 25 PATs for 79 points.

Avondale's Frank James and Ed Pritchett jumped two notches apiece, scoring 12 and 6 points, while Hapeville's Ed Caudell and Billy Martin were scoreless in a 31-6 loss to Newnan. James is third with 66 points; Pritchett, fourth with 60. Caudell dropped to fifth with 57 points, and Martin is in a two-way tie for sixth with Newnan's Jimmy Denney, both with 54.

Rounding out the top 10 are Gainesville's Bobby Lawson with 42 points, and a five-way logjam with 36 points featuring Avondale's Mark Thompson, Newnan's Joe Burson, Sandy Springs' Francis Saunders, South Cobb's Jerome Prince and Headland's Richard Alderman.

Avondale's Randy Hardeman took over the PAT leadership with 26, one more than Lothridge.

berdash, "and we know it will take hard work to get it."

Butts indicated Soberdash may be used as a linebacker against the Gators, with Bobby Towns remaining at right half. Don, of course, can be inserted at halfback if needed.

BULLDOG BRIEFS: Southeastern Conference Commissioner Bernie Moore visited Athens Tuesday and chatted with a little man who played a lot of end for him at Mercer—Wallace Butts. They had lunch together.

The Preparade

Porterfield Runs Toward Record Books, Albany Toward 1-AAA Title

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Don Porterfield, limited to a mere 32 yards rushing by an Oliver Hunnicutt-designed and Bobby Beck-led defense as LaGrange upended Moultrie last week, 12-0, is destined to be remembered as one of Region 1-AAA's great all-time backs along with Moultrie's Ray Mercer, Lanier's Danny Minor, Albany's Goo-Goo Heidt and LaGrange's Jimmy Burson and Dusty Mills.

Charlie Roberts

Knuck McCrary, his coach, told me in early season that Porterfield would become the finest back of the year. He wasn't far—if any—wrong.

Porterfield, who has already gained 1,159 yards rushing and receiving to eclipse a 1955 Danny Minor record by 9 yards, has galloped for 923 yards on 132 carries, a 6.99-per-carry average and has two games left in which to join the tough region's exclusive 1,000-yard club. Its current membership numbers only three backs—Mercer, 1,003 in 1951; Heidt, 1,018 in 1952 and Minor—a budding stickout for Army at West Point now—1,027 in 1955.

All of this probably won't net the Packers a championship, pointing out again that football is a team game. John Tillitski's Albanians, with a great backfield of quarterback Tommy Ross, halfbacks Marshall Tanner and Jerry Doyal and fullback Eddie Ogletree, have rolled up 2,638 yards in eight games and barring a lapse should go into the playoffs unbeaten.

More important, perhaps, is the fact that Albany has permitted foes an average of only 66.2 yards rushing each time out, 2.25 yards per enemy carry, and an average of just 7 first downs—fewer than 4 from rushing plays.

THE FUNNYBONE—(Double-header): George O'Kelley, assistant city athletic director, after Roosevelt-Fulton game at muddy, muddy Cheney Stadium: "We lost six towels and there may be a boy or two left out there." Mother of Howard Simpson, who caught Marietta's game-winning pass against Gainesville on equally gooey field, rushing up to son after game: "Oh, honey, I wanta hug you so much but you're so-o-o-o-o-o muddy."

PREP PRATTLE—J. Emmett Nunn, sports editor of the Chattooga Democrat, forwards us welcome observations on highlights and stars from 3-AA and 3-A "up-country." Championship Summerville is still rolling despite loss for the season by injuries of great back Tommy Hall—he was married last week—and guard Jackie Smith. Kenny Koonce is doing a great job in filling the void left by Smith. End Dudley Lentz, transfer from Cedartown, calls defensive signals and is an all-region prospect along with guard Tom Dooley—not the original. Petey Dunson, 197-pound back who is par-excellent as a punter and quick-kicker, and Harry Barnes, pepperpot quarterback who throws and runs well, have done much to alleviate loss of Hall. . . . Nunn hails Trion's tackle twosome of co-captain Wayne Woods (188) and Jerry Lancaster (170) as 3-A's best, adding that Lancaster was in on 50 tackles in three games. Center Ken Rackley is dubbed the "Maxie Baughan" stalker type. Soph fullback Tracy Campbell, with several 50 yarders to his credit, punted 73 yards dead on the Gordon Lee two. . . . Ronnie Corntassle, Pepperell's remarkable pass-catching end; LaFayette center Butch King, end Olin Daffron and backs Jimmy Dendy and Larry Martin are other top sparklers in Nunn's firmament. . . . And did you hear about Dublin's Buddy Adams who kicked off normal distance, ran down and recovered the ball before a Screven County hand touched it?

CLARK HOWELL TODD is the name of Roosevelt's bounding halfback, his daddy having been named after the father of the current Constitution publisher. . . . Roosevelt lineman Don Whitehead is stepping in the cleat-prints of brother Tom, now redshirted at Georgia after serving time at Austin Peay. . . . Grady center Jerry Davis covers punts with the best we've seen this season. . . . Few teams can match quarterbacks with Chamblee's comparatively unheralded Jimmy Partin. . . . Pat Patterson's Forest Parkers have been scored upon in only one game. . . . "Clutch team" of the year: Nolan Lang's Headland. . . . Jack Wood's vastly improved Sylvan is in prime position to upset Brown's apple cart in the final game. . . . Glenn Creech, star 14-year-old Claxton end, averaged 51 yards on 6 punts against Vidalia. In 7 games, teammate Mid Parker completed 50 of 87 passes for 757 yards and 11 TDs, plus scoring 5 himself. He missed another against Swainsboro when tackled a yard short after a 75-yard punt return. . . . Vidalia's Ronnie Dixon, Jenkins County's Robert Williams, Perry's Pierce Staples and ECI's John Rountree had rolled up 1,180, 1,158, 1,151 and 846 yards before last week's games.

Honor award winners for the year were: Lowering handicap—Mrs. Edward Chapman; Ringers—Mrs. James Clay, Mrs. T. R. Garlington Jr., Mrs. Guy Carpenter, Mrs. Tom Clark, Mrs. F. E. Byers and Mrs. J. B. Hutson. Points: Mrs. Frank Bagley, Mrs. T. E. Garlington Jr., Mrs. Edward Chapman, Mrs. Tom Clarke, Mrs. Judson Garner and Mrs. F. E. Byers.

Foul weather and a record entry, including honor guest Louise Suggs, kept host professionals Jack MacDowell and Cliff Ansley on the double during Cherokee's one-day invitational. A steady downpour forced play to be called at the end of nine holes, resulting in a longer social hour and good fellowship which offset the elements.

Dot Clay was low gross winner with 46 strokes.
First flight—Low net—Mrs. John Tyler and Mrs. James Godwin. Putts—Mrs. William C. Allen. Second flight: low gross, Mrs. David Duncan; low net, Mrs. H. S. Foss and Mrs. M. B. Hayes. Putts—Mrs. Fred Newcomb. Third flight—Low gross—Mrs. Lewis Crowe; low net, Mrs. Robert Vance and Mrs. Jack Fraser. Putts—Mrs. Chuck Southerland. Fourth flight—Low gross—Mrs. Frank Inman; low net, Miss Frances Young and Mrs. R. J. Chenery. Putts—Sally Meehan.

Bob Allen and Grace Lyons bagged inaugural honors in North Fulton's dog and cat fight tournament concluded Sunday. Bill Jennings and Armenta Simmons were second, Don Schwren and Margo Baxter third.

Bill Jennings, a five handicapper, won men's low net and gross with a 77. Women's low gross—Grace Lyons, 85. Low net—Margo Baxter, 72.

Giardello Tests Tiger

CLEVELAND (AP)—Joey Giardello likes to fight in Cleveland. He calls it "this lucky town of mine."

He tests that luck for the fifth time here Wednesday night against Dick Tiger, who won an unanimous decision over Giardello in Chicago five week ago. The two middleweights are matched for 10 rounds, and the scrap will be nationally televised (ABC).

KEGLER'S CORNER

PRESSURE ROLLS OFF HAMMOND IN 2ND PERFECT GAME

By PAUL ATKINSON

"He just looked that 300 game straight in the eye and didn't flinch," a bowler said of Gray Hammond and his monumental perfect game, Atlanta's first ever.

Paul Atkinson

Hammond concurred Tuesday with that analysis. "During the game," he said, "I wasn't too nervous. Some people came up to me in the ninth frame and asked me to put my hands out. It surprised me—they weren't shaking.

"I said to myself, 'What the heck, just throw the ball.' "

That strategy worked. Actually, Hammond put together 18 strikes in a row, six lapping over from a previous 248 game.

"Those pins seemed to have a magnet. The ball kept going in the pocket. If the ball started a little high, it would stay out. There was only one 'Brooklyn' hit—that in the fifth frame. Had to put a little body English on it."

The 300 game was Hammond's second. His first came in 1947 in his Waukegan, Ill., hometown at the age of 19 after only two years of bowling.

Someone noted a sudden upsurge in scoring this season. Did Hammond, one of the city's top keglers since he came here in 1956, have a reason or two?

"One thing," he began, "is that alley conditions are improving. And people are more interested in doing better. I'd say the arrival of real good bowlers such as Bill Pace and Dick Cochran has spurred the better bowlers on to higher scores—they've served as an incentive. You know when I came here, a 177 average was really something. Last season something in the 180s was good, and now it's up to 190s and 200s. Bowling's really improving."

Hammond should know. You can't improve on a 300.

TENPIN ALLEY: Atlanta's Major Traveling League came up with its hottest bowling ever Friday, with nine 600-plus series and 50 200 games. Top four scorers were Gray Hammond, 660; Bill Dempster and Bud Parrish, 651; and Ralph Brunt, 650. Bowl-O-Matic took over No. 1 spot with 16½-7½. Others: Brunswick and Hazan's, 15-9; O'Neil's Bowlerama, 14-10; Bob's Sports Shop, 13-11. Averages: Dick Cochran, 202; Bill Pace, 200; Karl Bartholomew, 197; Gray Hammond, 195.2; and Leroy Stout, 193. . . . Maybe the Southern Bowler team of Major League could take some pointers from the junior edition of the American Legion Post No. 72 Juniors. Younger Southern Bowlers are 21-7 and leading Reardon Auto by four games. But Major Leaguers have lost 12 games in a row. On that junior team, current averages are these: Steve Davis, 168; F. L. Davis, 167; Terry Wilch, 160; Butch Nelson, 159; and Bill Townsend, 144. Dale Polzin has high male series with 621 and Faye Farmer's 529 is best for gals. Dottie Newberry's 200 game and Ronnie Cofer's 252 are toppers also, while Hank Alexander's 181 best individually. . . . In that Muscular Dystrophy Tournament Sunday at O'Neil's, Bowlerama Juniors (Rik Van Dyke, Ronnie Griffin, Hank Alexander, Dale Polzin and Steve Davis) will go into play with team average of 872 to rate as a darkhorse entry. . . . Oddities Dept.: Facing each other on Live TV Saturday (WLWA-TV) will be Crossroads Restaurant teammates Alex Strickland and Larry Simpson. In the women's feature, Becky Royster, Evelyn McClellan go. That's at 4 p.m.

A NEW BOWLING HOUSE on Virginia avenue, across from the Ford Plant, is in the works out in Hapeville. It'll be a 40-lane establishment. Under the auspices of American International Corp., it'll shoot for an opening date of March 1. . . . And rumor has it that one of local live TV shows will feature an exhibition between Bill Pace and Don Carter. Carter will be here in December for the grand reopening of Briarcliff Lanes. . . . Brunswick sponsors a certified bowling instructors school at Broadview Monday with nationally famous Buddy Bomar here to instruct. It's open, incidentally, to the public, and is a four-day course. . . . Postal Cards are leading U.S. Post Office League at Lenox Lanes, and only one man has ever bowled before. . . . Dave Black's 246 game and Frank Bell's 631 series are toppers in the IBM League, while Execs are in No. 1 spot. . . . Gordon Tucker's 244 is high game in Lenox Men's League while Richard Roy has high series of 606. . . . Get Well Dept.: Carmen Salvino, just 25, suffered a mild heart attack the other day. Last reports were he is well on way to recovery; he's a member of the AMF Advisory staff. . . . Those tournaments continue this weekend. The Muscular Dystrophy has 60 teams entered at O'Neil's, while the Broadview Bowl-O-Matic Fall Classic resumes with Ralph Brunt, Art Chambers and Brunt and Dick Cochran leaders in open singles, 179 and under singles and doubles.

Eternally Peppy Machen Cheering to Tigers' Jordan

'A Pleasure To Coach'

Special to The Constitution

AUBURN, Ala. — While Auburn's offensive troops went through a lengthy, tedious contact session Tuesday, there was one player who was as fresh at the end of the drill as he began.

That was second-unit right halfback Don Machen of Sylacauga, Ala., a 148-pound sophomore with eternal pep.

"Machen looked real good today," head coach Ralph (Shug) Jordan said after practice. "He runs full speed at all times, whether he's on the field running plays or moving from one drill group to another.

"It's a pleasure to coach his kind."

Machen, who will also dart and dance through an opponent's line, has come a long way since fall practice opened. Moved from left to right halfback, he found a home and quickly moved in to take over the No. 2 job.

"He looked real good against Miami," Jordan said. "And he came back with his best effort yet in the Florida game. His running was determined and he got off one truly fine run of about 10 yards.

"Also, we can't overlook his defensive play."

Head defensive coach Hal Herring regards Machen as one of the finest secondary men on the Auburn team. He has good reaction, is a solid and sure tackler and his speed makes him an excellent pass defender.

"With Mississippi State coming up Saturday," Herring says, "it's comforting to know he'll be available to handle some of those numerous receivers they get downfield on that double-wing."

be our acceptance of the Atlanta franchise, and it will be a painful duty to all of us. It just doesn't make sense to me, Atlanta's getting out of the league. I know of no other important business to come before the group.

"I would like to reiterate the statement I have made many times in recent months, that there will definitely be a Southern Assn. next year."

Birmingham, Mobile, Nashville, Shreveport and Memphis, at the moment, are considered certainties to field clubs. The Chicks—in the throes of becoming technically, at least, "fan owned"—have signed a working agreement with the St. Louis Cards after struggling through a season with no major league affiliation. It is doubtful if New Orleans will go to the post in 1960.

Chattanooga was rumored as planning to return its franchise to the league at the meeting also. But President Joe Engel, contacted in New Orleans, said, "No, we're going to ask the directors for more time to see if we can't work out something before the annual minor league meeting in St. Petersburg (Nov. 30, Dec. 1-4.)"

In late-season, Engel was ordered by the Washington Senators to sell the Lookouts and close shop at Engel Stadium. But currently a Chattanooga group is attempting to map a workable plan to keep the club.

Both Hurth and Mann expressed amazement that no inquiry had been made by any person or group following Mann's recent offer to provide Ponce de Leon Park rent free to any group that could obtain and operate a Southern franchise in Atlanta during 1960.

Hurth and some of the directors still entertain hopes—ever so faint—that some Atlanta group will take over the club. But no such group exists.

"I feel certain there would have been a movement to field a team in Atlanta in 1960 except for all the talk about getting a Continental League franchise," reasoned Mann. "But I feel that is at least two years away.

"I believe it will be from two to five years before a new stadium will be built, and until such a time the city can obtain no big league franchise of any kind. What happens in the meantime?"

Hurth announced that those expected for the meeting at the Roosevelt Hotel, besides Mann, Donaldson, Engel and Winder, are: Eddie Glennon, Birmingham general manager; Nat Buring (retiring president) and Leo R. Burson (incoming president) of Memphis; president Jamo McPhillips and general manager Owen Martinez of Mobile; Bonneau Peters, managing partner of Shreveport; Jack DeFee, New Orleans president, plus a Nashville body composed of president Herschel Greer, chairman of the board Jack Norman Sr., and general manager-field manager Jim Turner.

GRANT FIELD TO HOST MILK BOWL NOV. 20

The Milk Bowl football game, matching champions of Region 3-AAA East and West, will again be contested at Georgia Tech's Grant Field, city schools' athletic director Sid Scarborough said Tuesday.

Date of the game is Nov. 20, with sub-regional champions to be decided by Nov. 14.

All proceeds from advance tickets sales will go to the Ira Jarrell Milk Fund for needy school children. Tickets can be obtained at city schools at $1.50 for adults and $.75 for children.

As I See It

Daytime TV: Crime But No Punishment

By PAUL JONES

While the Congress—and the nation, for that matter—are concerned with the quiz show scandal, at least one Atlanta viewer is baffled by something which, I am sure, has puzzled many of you.

This viewer, a devotee of the daytime soap operas, called Tuesday to ask if I knew what had happened to two of the characters on Edge of Night, who have disappeared, unceremoniously, from the cast.

"About two months ago," the viewer said, "the doctor in Edge of Night got married and he left with his bride for a brief honeymoon. He has not been seen or heard from since.

Jones

"And several months ago, a man in the show poisoned his wife, killed a girl who was about to inform the police of his guilt and then disposed of a third party who was going to blackmail him.

"After the triple murder nothing else was said about the culprit.

"What I want to know is are the doctor and his bride still honeymooning? And was the killer sentenced to the chair, did he get life or are the police still looking for him?"

All I can say is that some strange things do happen on the daytime programs.

About two years ago one of the women in one of the shows reported that she was going to have a baby.

After 15 months, the baby had not been born and nothing else was ever said about it.

You might look to the quiz show mess for an answer.

When contestants on the quizzers proved that they didn't have proper personality projection they were thrown a curve ball in the form of a real tough question.

Possibly the doctor, his bride, the murderer and the woman who was pregnant for 15 months without having a baby were what the TV trade likes to call "undesirables."

Producers of these shows will be surprised to know that anybody has even missed them.

IF NBC-TV HAD WAITED for the viewers to say whether Charles Van Doren should be retained on the payroll—or fired—their answer would have been: "Keep him on the payroll." At least that's the impression I have gained from phone calls and letters.

Although he required some prodding to bare his soul before the congressional committee, and although Charles has become a symbol (despite the fact that Elfrida Von Nardoff won more money—$220,500) the American people are with him. The vast majority of the televiewers would have liked for Van Doren to have held his job on Today.

YOU MIGHT HAVE thought that Lowell Thomas was serious when he appeared to be reluctant to go along with Ralph Edwards when Edwards pinned the This Is Your Life medal on him several weeks ago.

Lowell Thomas

Thomas, it appears, was just acting, too.

For, while he tried to fake a look of disgust about Edwards' brand of malarkey, he's going to become a willing contributor to the life story of a famous guest out of the past, a World War I hero Wednesday, night (Channel 2 at 10 p.m.).

TV is just loaded with good actors, isn't it?

MRS. F.R.B. of Aragon writes: "Have been waiting, thinking someone would mention Elfrida Von Nardroff who, if I remember correctly, won over $200,000 on "21." Why are they making such a fuss about Charles Van Doren and she has not been mentioned or questioned?"

"I think, when she left the show she said she was going to Europe to study.

MRS. CLEVELAND GAINES of Royston writes: "For several reasons I would like to know if Mary Martin (who, as you know, played in Peter Pan and South Pacific) ever won an award (Oscar or Emmy). I have searched our library but do not find her name listed. It just occurred to me that you could tell if she has."

Yes, Mary owns an Emmy.

JAZZ BELONGS TO ALL

Copying Peter Gunn? Nonsense, Says Staccato

By JOE FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—John Cassavetes is sick and tired of being called Peter Gunn's imitator.

Cassavetes, portraying a musician doubling as a private eye in Staccato, was hauled across the coals by television critics accusing the new show of being a carbon copy of Gunn.

"I'll admit all of our shows so far haven't been what we want in the way of style," John said. "But, the thing is certainly no imitation.

John Cassavetes

"Personally, I've been knocked as an imitator of Craig Stevens. But again I think the character of Gunn and Staccato are entirely different.

"The reviewers also claim Waldo's Place, our jazz musicians' club, was copied from Mother's, featured on Gunn.

"Ours is a music show, where else would they hang out," he asked. "I noticed Gunn changed the makeup of Mother's recently and now it's similar to ours. Nobody accused them of copying us."

John went on citing and countering accusations hurled at his show.

"If jazz background music means copying, then I guess we are," he shrugged. "But, jazz has been around for years and that type of background music was used in plenty of movies. Certainly movie producers didn't copy the jazz from a TV show."

Astaire Has Another Evening

By THE TV SCOUT

BEST BET—Another Evening With Fred Astaire is easily the best advance warning of the season. The master hoofer is in the toughest spot on the vaudeville bill—he's following Fred Astaire.

Last year's show won all the available awards, and Astaire is too much of a perfectionist to have a letdown. Barrie Chase, Jonah Jones, David Rose and the whole crew from last year are back with an entirely new production (on tape). Fred has even invented a new dance step, called "The Afterbeat," which he thinks might catch on with the dancing crowd.

Ken Nordine, a far-out Chicago disc jockey, chants something called "Word Jazz," while Astaire hoofs with the exquisite Barrie. Fred teams up with drummer Alvin Stoller in one of those familiar Astaire rhythm jobs. "Night Train," for Fred and 16 dancers, "That Face," and "Sophisticated Lady," with Barrie, and a swinging medley by Jonah Jones look like high points, and then there'll be a singing medley from Fred, who insists he can't sing.

One of Barrie's gowns took six workers three days to make—it's a hand-embroidered job, and another has 100 yards of material. Both gowns cost $3,000.

Two costume designers worked on the show, and if you have a color set they'll show you some color schemes that will knock your eye out. 9-10 (Ch. 2).

8-8:30 (Ch. 11) — The Hobby Lobby crowd this week includes a bunch of Italian folk dancers, a garbage collector who writes poetry and a woodchopping champ. Guy Madison is the name guest, bringing along his bow and arrow. Charley Weaver supervises and gets off a few good lines he's not sure he made up.

9:30-10 (Ch. 5)—There's a wispy idea that is carried throughout the show on I've Got a Secret, giving the sometimes flabby panel a hard workout. All the regulars are on hand this week.

10-11 (Ch. 5)—Little Margaret O'Brien plays a 17-year-old "back country" girl from Arkansas on the U.S. Steel Hour. "Big Doc's Girl" is a wobbly script about a country doctor (Gene Raymond) dedicated to the poor folk instead of becoming a slick city doctor. Margaret is his daughter, a would-be snob who'd love to try the city. She's wooed by two local fellows, and if you can't spot the outcome of one, you need practice.

Gene and Margaret worked together once before, as Mercutio and Juliet in a West Coast production of "Romeo and Juliet." Robert Lansing and Gene Hackman are the two suitors, one a doctor and the other a minister.

With Arms Costs Rising Steadily, There's Bound to Be a Cutback

NEW YORK — Stock market tipsters insist there will be no major defense cutbacks in the foreseable future. But don't you believe it.

President Eisenhower did say there will be no significant reduction in defense expenditures in the 1960-61 budget. But he does demand it hold to the 1959-60 level of $41 billion. With costs of weapons increasing steadily, it spells out a cut in volume of defense equipment.

In other words, numerous projects by the Army, Navy and Air Force will be shelved. And the Defense department will not deny there will be a substantial reduction in defense contracts now outstanding—to the tune of almost $1 billion.

Boom Isn't Dead

Readers ask: Did the prolonged steel strike kill the boom? Answer: No. There has been serious damage done the steel industry and those dependent upon steel. And there is increasing unemployment. But consumers continue buying at near record levels, especially in hard goods. That's confirmed by the Federal Reserve Board report that consumer debt has climbed to a new high despite the steel strike.

It's on the Cuff

At the American Bankers Assn. annual meeting last week the head of its Small Business Credit Committee declared there's ample credit available to small business concerns despite the tight-credit situation. But Federal Reserve Board officials don't agree. Board member A. L. Mills Jr. thinks commercial bank liquidity is suffering because of an excess of mortgage and installment loans. That's an official hint the reserve board may soon "instruct" commercial banks to tighten up on installment loans. If so, it will be reflected in sales of autos, major home appliances and furniture.

What's Hot Money?

Readers ask: What is "hot money?" Answer: It refers to funds that flow from one international money center to another seeking the highest earnings return consistent with safety. Lee P. Miller, outgoing president of the American Bankers Assn., said the big New York banks are concerned with the recent shift of such foreign money out of time deposits into Treasury bills and other short-term notes. And stock brokers report a shift of foreign funds from out of American corporate common shares into Treasury bills. Apropos of the common share selling, the foreign money is now cashing in trading profits.

Funds for Mortgages

Money for home mortgages will not suffer as a result of depositors switching funds from savings accounts into the Treasury "Magic 5s." According to Everett J. Livesey, president of the Dime Savings Bank of Brooklyn, N.Y., there will always be money available for good mortgage loans. Said he: "It will come from funds previously scheduled for other forms of investment."

Cigars Show Gains

The cigar industry is showing substantial gains over the excellent results of last year. This despite the fact that the industry as yet hasn't started its widespread advertising campaign—to be done by the individual companies. It is of interest to note that sales of Cuban-made cigars are in a slump while those of domestic makes are in a boom. Reason: Prices of Cuban cigars have spurted 25 per cent as a result of the Castro government enforcing higher wages and taxes. It looks like a big sales and earnings year for domestic cigar manufacturers.

Business Inventories Off $350 Million for Month

WASHINGTON (AP)—Business inventories dropped another $350 million in September to an estimated $88,200,000,000.

The Commerce department said Tuesday the decline centered in manufacturing, particularly among makers of durable goods.

Inventories have been falling since August as manufacturers dipped into supplies of steel to keep production going during the strike in that industry.

Liquidation of stocks was heaviest in the fabricated metal, motor vehicle and transportation equipment industries, the report said.

For the entire third quarter, inventories fell by $200 million after adjustment for seasonal factors.

September sales topped August figures in manufacturing and wholesale trade, with hard goods industries scoring most of the gains. Retail sales declined.

Sales of retailers dropped $300 million to $17,600,000,000. Deliveries of wholesalers were up $300 million to $13,000 billion. Manufacturing sales rose by $400 million to $29,900,000,000.

Investing Your Money

By WILLIAM DOYLE

Question: I have learned that a certain well known investment adviser is telling all his clients to se all their common stocks and to put all their money into government bonds. Are conditions in this country so bad that such action is necessary for investors to avoid loss?

Answer: Just where did you get that tidbit of information? Have you been peeping at keyholes or eavesdropping in elevators? Second-hand information can often bring you nothing but grief.

And it certainly sounds as if you got this story by a roundabout route. Otherwise, you would have more details. Any investment adviser who told his clients to do what you say this one has would be making a mighty drastic move. He would be putting his reputation and his future on the line.

It's an investment adviser's job to tell his clients to buy this or sell that. It's natural for him to advise shifting from stocks to bonds or from bonds to stocks—as he believes conditions in the market call for.

But seldom, if ever, will an investment adviser advocate an all-out switch for all his clients. Switches are usually recommended according to the merits of individual securities, the conditions and aims of each investor, as well as many other considerations.

Even if an investment adviser did advise an all-out switch to bonds, it's a cinch that he wouldn't advise staying with bonds forever. In our expanding American economy, long-term investments in high-grade common stocks are still a smart thing.

This doesn't mean that even the best stocks won't drop in price from time to time. However, conditions in this country not only aren't "so bad;" they're good. And, over the years ahead, they're going to get better.

Question: My bank has just advised me to sell some (but not all) of the stocks I own and to invest the money I receive from the sale of those stocks in corporate bonds. The stocks I have been advised to sell don't pay much in the way of dividends. The bank says I can increase my yield by buying corporate bonds. Does this make sense? One more question: What are corporate bonds?

Answer: Yes, it makes sense—if you are looking for a higher return on your investment. Another thing to think about is that bonds are usually considered safer than stocks.

It's possible to get a five per cent or even a little better yield on good-grade corporate bonds today. For people who want income, they are a good buy.

Corporate bonds are debt securities of the companies which have issued them. When you own a bond you are a creditor. The company which has issued the bond owes you the par value of the bond. The company is pledged to pay off that debt sooner or later. The company is also pledged to pay interest on the bond. Interest on bonds is usually paid every six months.

Body Plant Will Boost Ramblers

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors Tuesday announced plans to boost body production 35 per cent within the next seven months by leasing and converting the Simmons steel furniture plant in Kenosha, Wis., to car body building.

Kenosha, just south of Milwaukee, is the home of American Motors auto activities.

George Romney, president of American Motors, said the conversion will lop a year off his expansion timetable. "We are not deferring new building plans," he declared, "but we can't wait for them."

American will lease the two million square foot building from the Kenosha Harbor Development Corp., which recently purchased the factory from the Simmons Co.

Romney said the project will cost $14,500,000 and will boost daily body production from 1,900 to more than 2,500. He said progress now is being made on a $17,500,000 expansion of six cylinder, axle and machining operations at the main Kenosha Rambler plant.

Present capacity of the Rambler plant is just over 500,000 cars annually. Romney said the expansion programs will boost this to more than 600,000 during the latter half of 1960.

Most of the Markets Closed for Elections

NEW YORK (AP)—Most New York city stock and commodity markets were closed Tuesday, Election Day. However, the Midwest Stock Exchange, Board of Trade and livestock market in Chicago remained open.

The only New York market open was the produce exchange where produce, soybean oil futures and cottonseed oil futures are traded.

The New Orleans Cotton Exchange, as well as many stock markets across the nation, observed the holiday.

Foreign markets operated as usual.

Because New York banks were closed, quotations on foreign currency were not available. For the same reason, quotations on government bonds also were not available.

TRADITION GONE

Winter Site Sold By Circus

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—The winter quarters of Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus, a top tourist attraction for 31 years, Tuesday joined the growing list of casualties of a changing world.

A real estate firm bought the 157-acre tract from the circus and plans to build homes on the property.

The once colorful quarters actually received the death sentence in 1956 when the circus folded its big tent, sold hundreds of animals and adapted its format for indoor performances.

The property which became circus winter quarters was used for a fairground in the early 1920s. Three businessmen held notes for $16,000 on the property, and they agreed to "forget" the notes if John Ringling would move his circus winter quarters there.

Ringling told friends he acquired the property for 29 cents an acre. He moved the circus winter quarters here from Bridgeport, Conn., in 1927.

Officials closed the winter quarters gates to tourists in 1958. At that time more than 200,000 tourists visited the facility each year. Since that time the grounds and buildings have served as a storehouse for equipment no longer used and for relics of a bygone era.

A spokesman said four private railroad cars once used by John Ringling and other owners of the circus, a Rolls-Royce bought by Ringling at the cost of $20,000 nearly 40 years ago and hundreds of other items which tell the story of the circus in its heyday, were retained.

He said he hopes to purchase a smaller tract here to display the items and for use during periods when the circus is off the road.

Milton N. Weir of Boca Raton, president of Arvida Corp., said his firm paid $340,000 for the winter quarters. Arvida also bought 1,242 acres of adjoining property from Mrs. Ann M. Newburn for $1,242,000.

Motel Industry Warned Of Helter-Skelter Growth

NEW YORK (AP)—The motor hotel industry is overexpanding, a leading hotel executive said Tuesday.

"I believe we are flirting with disaster," said Roger P. Sonnabend, executive vice president of Hotel Corporation of America's hotel and motor hotel activities, in a speech at the National Hotel Exposition.

"We are expanding helter-skelter and often unwisely," he added.

Sonnabend recommended that the industry follow a policy of "controlled expansion" based on careful investigation of site and other factors on which indications of successful operation can be based.

Sales Climbing

CHICAGO (AP)—Montgomery Ward & Co. reported Tuesday its sales for the four weeks from Oct. 1 through Oct. 28 were up 6.2 per cent from the comparable 1958 period and that for the first nine months of the fiscal year they climbed 13 per cent.

Sales for the four weeks amounted to $105,181,223 and for the nine months, $861,199,171.

GMAC Contracts

NEW YORK (AP)—General Motors Acceptance Corp. reported Tuesday it purchased $1,084,000,000 in retail installment contracts in the three months ended Sept. 30. This was up from 802 million dollars in the corresponding period of 1958.

For the first nine months of this year retail contracts purchased amounted to $2,996,000,000, compared with $2,395,000,000 in the 1958 period.

Indiana Standard Sets Dividend

CHICAGO (AP)—Standard Oil Co. (Indiana) declared Tuesday a special dividend equivalent to about 54 cents a share after reporting net earnings for the nine months ended Sept. 30 were up 23 per cent from the same period a year ago.

The special dividend is in the form of one share of Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) stock for each 90 shares of Standard (Indiana). It will be paid Dec. 18 to holders of record Nov. 13. A regular quarterly dividend of 35 cents will be paid at the same time and of the same record.

The company said its nine months' net earnings of $106,189,113 were equal to $2.97 a share. For the comparable 1958 period, net income was $86,449,150, or $2.42 a share.

For the third quarter only, though, the company said its earnings were down $6,688,242 to $27,337,841. Employe strikes and weak prices were largely accountable for the decline, the company reported.

Beans, Corn Score Gains

CHICAGO (AP)—Soybean futures steamed on ahead and approached their high levels of the season on gains runnings to 1½ cents a bushel.

It was their third successive broad advance as trade continued at a fast clip and in heavy volume. During the three days all contracts have added at least 4 cents a bushel, with the November delivery gaining about 6 cents.

Corn, however, was the leader for the day. All contracts moved up well over a cent for their broadest advances in more than a week. Wheat was weak, oats narrowly mixed and rye firm in light dealings.

GEORGIA LIVE POULTRY

Broilers and fryers: Demand for ready to cook poultry lacked aggressiveness and ranged fair to good, mostly fair. Some discounted sales noted in an effort to maintain movement. Live offerings generally adequate, though average weights remain heavier than desired at some points. Estimated slaughter by Georgia processors Tuesday, 1,148,000 head, compared to 943,000 head last Tuesday. Georgia poultry exchange Monday offered 204,900 head and sold 179,700 head as follows: 44,300 at 14.2-14.5c, 101,900 at 14.6c, 33,500 at 14.7-14.9c.

Buyers' offering prices per lb. on birds not priced prior to Tuesday's movement: At farms, 13½-15c, mostly 14c, 933,000 head.

Prices paid per lb. Monday, Nov. 2 including sales on exchange, broilers and fryers 2¾-3¾ lbs.: At farms 14-15c, 1,411,000 head, 54 per cent at 14c, 2 per cent at 14.2-14.4c, 17 per cent at 14.5-14.9c, 1 per cent at 15c, 25 per cent intracompany sales booked at 14c, 1 per cent undetermined.

Hens: Offerings increasing on heavy type, and all types about adequate at most points. Trading relatively heavy. Demand good. Prices paid per lb. for heavy type at farms 16c, f.o.b. plants 17c. Light type at farms 8c, f.o.b. plants 8½-9c, mostly 9c.

New Menthol Filter Cigarette Actually "Air-Cools" the Smoke!

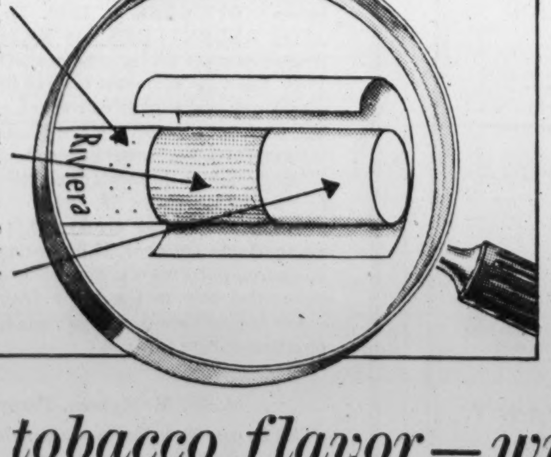
You get rich tobacco flavor plus the throat-cooling refreshment of menthol—without that "medicated" taste!

Read how Riviera's 3-way action "air-cools" and filters the smoke

AIR VENTS...a ring of tiny air vents (you can see them under a magnifying glass) cools the smoke and makes it mild even before it reaches the filter.

EASY-DRAW FILTER... Riviera's high-filtration easy-draw filter cleans and screens the smoke and lets the rich tobacco flavor come through.

PROTECTIVE TIP... Riviera's pure white protective tip keeps the inner filter away from your lips—and stays firm in your mouth.



1. You get the rich tobacco flavor of "regulars"—plus some enjoyable extras!
2. You get the mildness of "filters"—without the loss of good tobacco flavor!
3. You get the throat-cooling refreshment of "menthols"—without that "medicated" taste!
